cells are androgen dependent i.e. androgen receptor AR signalling regulates cell cycle and differentiation The loss of AR signalling after ADT triggers androgen independent outgrowth generating poorly differentiated uncontrollable PCa cells Once PCa cells lose their sensitivity to ADT effective therapies are limited In the last few years however several new options for the treatment of CRPC have been approved e.g. the CYP17 inhibitor the AR antagonist and the taxane Despite this progress in the development of new drugs there is a high medical need for optimizing the sequence and combination of approved drugs Thus the identification of predictive biomarkers may help in the context of personalized medicine to guide treatment decisions improve clinical outcomes and prevent unnecessary side effects In this Special Issue Book we focused on the cytobiology of human PCa cells and its clinical applications to develop a major step towards personalized medicine matched to the individual needs of patients with early stage and advanced PCa and CRPC We hope that this Special Issue Book attracts the attention of readers with expertise and interest in the cytobiology of PCa cells
