Does speculation with agricultural commodity futures cause price bubbles in the event of negative production shocks? Tobias Thürer, 2016-02-05 Since the mid 2000s an increasing financialization of commodity futures markets is taking place This has fueled an ongoing discussion about the effect of financial investments on the development of commodity prices Against this background the trading activities of financial speculators also come to the fore There is the concern that such speculators can cause irrational overshootings of agricultural commodity prices e g in the event of global production shocks In such an event the decrease of total supply induces a price surge menacing food security in developing countries Yet the question emerges whether speculation aggravates this price increase eventually inducing a price bubble The relevance of this concern is reinforced by the fact that due to climate change an increased frequency and severity of global agricultural production shortfalls is at stake If speculation evokes an additional threat to food security in the event of a production shock the political agenda should not be confined to focus solely on the adaptation to climate change Instead it is then also necessary to address speculative activities on agricultural commodity markets This book scrutinises whether speculative bubbles can be identified in the event of severe global production shocks For this a framework for tracing the transmission of the futures price s development on the spot market is developed Using annual data from 1979 2012 for maize it is analysed whether production shock related price bubbles occurred

Return on Investment in Meetings & Events M. Theresa Breining, Jack J. Phillips, Patricia Pulliam Phillips, 2008-01-14 The Phillips ROI Methodology™ utilizes five levels of evaluation which are essential in determining the return on investment At Level 1 Reaction and Planned Action attendee and stakeholder satisfaction from the meeting can be measured Almost all organizations evaluate at Level 1 usually with a generic end of meeting questionnaire While this level of evaluation is important as a stakeholder satisfaction measure a favorable reaction does not ensure that attendees have acquired new skills knowledge opinions or attitudes from the meeting At Level 2 Learning measurements focus on what participants learned during the meeting using tests skill practices role plays simulations group evaluations and other assessment tools A learning check is helpful to ensure that attendees have absorbed the meeting material or messages and know how to use or apply it properly It is also important at this level to determine the quantity and quality of new professional contacts acquired and whether existing professional contacts were strengthened due to the meeting However a positive measure at this level is no guarantee that what was learned or whether the professional contacts acquired will be used on the job At Level 3 Job Applications a variety of follow up methods can be used to determine if attendees applied on the job what they learned or acquired at the meeting The frequency and use of skills are important measures at Level 3 While Level 3 evaluations are important to gauge the success of the meeting it still does not guarantee that there will be a positive business impact in the organization or for the attendee At Level 4 Business Results the measurement focuses on the actual business results achieved by meeting participants as they successfully apply the meeting material or messages Typical Level 4 measures include output sales quality costs time and customer satisfaction Although the meeting may produce a measurable business impact there is still a concern that the meeting may cost too much

At Level 5 Return on Investment this ultimate level of measurement compares the monetary benefits from the meeting with the fully loaded meeting costs as expressed in the ROI formula All levels of evaluation must be conducted in order to determine the ROI of a meeting or event The data collected should show a chain of impact occurring through the levels as the skills and knowledge learned Level 2 are applied on the job Level 3 to produce business results Level 4

Postmodern Music, Postmodern Listening Jonathan D. Kramer, 2016-08-11 Kramer was one of the most visionary musical thinkers of the second half of the 20th century In his The Time of Music he approached the idea of the many different ways that time itself is articulated musically This book has become influential among composers theorists and aestheticians Now in his almost completed text written before his untimely death in 2004 he examines the concept of postmodernism in music Kramer created a series of markers by which we can identify postmodern works He suggests that the postmodern project actually creates a radically different relationship between the composer and listener Written with wit precision and at times playfully subverting traditional tropes to make a very serious point about this difference Postmodern Music Postmodern Listening leads us to a strongly grounded intellectual basis for stylistic description and an intuitive sensibility of what postmodernism in music entails Postmodern Music Postmodern Listening is an examination of how musical postmodernism is not just a style or movement but a fundamental shift in the relationship between composer and listener The result is a multifaceted and provocative look at a critical turning point in music history one whose implications we are only just beginning to understand
