Regional Interest Magazines of the United States Sam Riley,Gary W. Selnow,1990-11-30

In Regional Interest Magazines of the United States Sam G Riley and Gary W Selnow focus on those magazines that direct their attention to a particular city or region and reach a fairly general readership intersted in entertainment and information

This work is a follow up to their earlier Index to City and Regional Magazines of the United States. Titles are arranged alphabetically to facilitate access; each entry includes a historical essay on the magazine's founding, development, editorial policies, and content. Entries also include two sections that provide data on information sources and publication history arranged in tabular form for ready reference. In choosing the magazines to be profiled, Riley and Selnow attempted to represent not only the biggest and most successful of this genre but also some smaller and newer titles plus significant earlier magazines that are no longer in print. Special care was also taken to achieve an even geographical spread. To attain greater accuracy, regional writers were enlisted to do the entries on their own region. These writers provide valuable information on how the various magazines began, how conditions have caused them to change, their problems, their editors and publishers, and their content, as well as colorful and little-known facts of their operation. Magazines were arranged alphabetically, and two informative appendices list the profiled titles by founding date and geographic location. This volume will be a valuable resource for students of magazine publishing history.

Scatter Andrew Scott, 2016-04-15 You were created for one purpose: live your life for God's glory. You need no further special call. You have been created uniquely to do this uniquely, so work out what you're passionate about, good at, and fit for, and go do it. Andrew Scott. In Scatter, missions innovator Andrew Scott sounds a call for a new era of missions, one that uses the global marketplace for gospel growth and sees every Christian, engineer, baker, pastor, or other as God's global image bearer. Andrew has served in over 52 countries and is the U.S. president of one of the world's largest mission agencies. With eyes on a quickly growing world and a slower growing church, he sees that our traditional mission models simply won't do. Here he gives a guide to change it up. Helping us see the grand narrative of Scripture and how each of us fits within it, he issues a compelling call. Scatter.

Yet Another Costume Party Debacle Ingrid A. Nelson, 2024-12-11 How the policies of elite colleges allow racially themed parties to continue by perpetuating the status quo. On a cold February evening, a group of students at Bowdoin College, an elite and historically white liberal arts college in Maine, gathered to drink tequila at a party referred to as not not a fiesta. By noon the next day, Instagram videos of students sporting miniature sombreros had spread like wildfire through campus. Over the next few weeks, national media outlets would broadcast the embarrassing fallout. But the frequency with which similar parties recur on campuses across the United States begs the question: what, if anything, do undergraduates learn about race and racism from these encounters? Drawing on interviews and archival research, Yet Another Costume Party Debacle shows us how colleges both contest and reproduce racialized systems of power. Sociologist Ingrid A. Nelson juxtaposes how students and administrators discuss race with how they behave in the aftermath of racially charged campus controversies. Nelson spoke in depth with students and other key players in several controversial parties: Cracksgiving, a gangster party, and the not not a fiesta tequila party at Bowdoin. The college's administrative response failed to encourage productive dialogue or address larger questions about race on campus. Nelson shows how the underlying campus structures at elite liberal arts colleges foster an environment that is ripe for racially charged incidents we shouldn't be surprised when we read about yet another costume party debacle Nelson advises how we can take charge of diversity on our campuses by changing the systems that bring students together and drive them apart The Consumption of Inequality K. Halnon, 2013-09-18 The fads fashions and media in popular consumer culture frequently make recreational and ideological fun of poverty and lower class living In this book Halnon delineates how incarceration segregation stigmatization cultural and social consecration and carnivalization work in the production and consumption of inequality Empires of Dust Layne Wallace, 2025-07-10

Empires of Dust examines the regression of societal institutions across the United States From the church to education to the military to work and the family this text documents the regression of societal institutions More than documenting the decline the text describes the causes of institutional decline and cuts a pathway toward renewal Sociology David M.

Newman, 2020-01-28 In Sociology Exploring the Architecture of Everyday Life David Newman shows students how to see the unfamiliar in the familiar to step back and see organization and predictability in their personal experiences Through his approachable writing style and lively personal anecdotes the author has maintained his goal from the first edition to write a textbook that reads like a real book Many adopters of this book are fans of Peter Berger's classic works which helped introduce the idea of social constructionism to sociology Newman uses the metaphors of architecture and construction to help students understand that society is not something that exists out there independently of themselves it is a human creation that is planned maintained or altered by individuals Using vivid prose current examples and recent data the Thirteenth Edition presents a unique and thought provoking overview of how society is constructed and experienced Instead of surveying every subfield in sociology the more streamlined coverage 14 chapters focuses on the individual and society the construction of self and society and social inequality in the context of social structures Included with this title The password protected Instructor Resource Site formally known as SAGE Edge offers access to all text specific resources including a test bank and editable chapter specific PowerPoint slides
