We Are #ALTGOV Amanda Sturgill, 2022-08-15 When being a team player at work meant lying to the American people brave civil servants took to social media to share the inside scoop Government employees expect some changes with each new election but adjusting to the Trump administration was different The new president was banning Muslim immigrants repealing Net Neutrality and deleting climate change information from EPA websites It became urgent to take a stand The ALTGOV Twitter movement subverted official statements to remind the American public that all was not well in the White House but that there was something they could do about it This is the story of how the same social media technologies that fractured America have helped rogue government workers and concerned citizens work to keep it together Beginning with tweets from the parks about the Inauguration Day crowd the AltGov Twitter accounts offered followers context truth and opportunities to take real world action to support human rights privacy rights and science Followers say they offer hope They've also faced challenges from their bosses in the government from trolls and bots and from each other Amanda Sturgill offers the first real look at this grassroots movement including exclusive interviews with AltGov members as they struggled to work with others who had a spectrum of goals and motivations They faced their own fears of being discovered or even inadvertently causing the harm they were trying to forestall The AltGov movement shows us that social media is more than a megaphone it's a way for everyday people to live out the democratic ideals that shaped their country
