Identity and Migration in Europe: Multidisciplinary Perspectives MariaCaterina La Barbera,2014-11-24 This book addresses the impact of migration on the formation and transformation of identity and its continuous negotiations Its ground is the understanding of identity as a complex social phenomenon resulting from constant negotiations between personal conditions social relationships and institutional frameworks Migrations understood as dynamic processes that do not end when landing in the host country offer the best conditions to analyze the construction and transformation of social identities in the postcolonial and globalized societies Searching for novel epistemologies and methodologies the research questions here addressed are how identity is negotiated in migration processes and how these negotiations work in contemporary multiethnic Europe This edited volume brings to the field a novel convergence of theoretical and empirical approaches by gathering together scholars from different countries of Europe and the Mediterranean area from different disciplines and backgrounds challenging the traditional discipline division

Rethinking National Identity in the Age of Migration Migration Policy Institute,Bertelsmann Stiftung,2012-11-30 Greater mobility and migration have brought about unprecedented levels of diversity that are transforming communities across the Atlantic in fundamental ways sparking uncertainty over who we are in a society As publics fear loss of their national identity and values the need is greater than ever to reinforce the bonds that tie communities together Yet while a consensus may be emerging as to what has not worked well little thought has been given to developing a new organizing principle for community cohesion Such a vision needs to smooth divisions between immigration's winners and losers blunt extremism and respond smartly to changing community and national identities This volume will examine the lessons that can be drawn from various approaches to immigrant integration and managing diversity in North America and Europe The book delivers recommendations on what policymakers must do to build and reinforce inclusiveness given the realities on each side of the Atlantic It offers insights into the next generation of policies that can rebuild inclusive societies and bring immigrants and natives together in pursuit of shared futures

Identities in Migration Contexts Konstanze Jungbluth, Christiane Meierkord, 2007

Migration, Narration, Identity Peter Leese, Carly McLaughlin, Wladyslaw Witalisz, 2012 This book presents articles resulting from joint research on the representations of migration conducted in connection with the Erasmus Intensive Programme entitled Migration and Narration taught to groups of international students over three consecutive summers from 2010 to 2012 The articles focus on various aspects of the migrant experience and try to answer questions about migrant identity and its representations in literature and the media The book closes with an original play by Carlos Morton the Chicano playwright working in the United States

Transnational Migration and the Politics of Identity Meenakshi Thapan, 2005 Focusing on Asian women s experience of immigration the contributions in this book collectively highlight the gendered dimension of migration the different experiences of men to women and the subsequent consequences for women within the constraints of the root culture and the strategies deployed to make life more bearable in the host country The central theme discussed is the fact that immigrant women are unable to completely break away from the chains of traditional patriarchal norms imposed by either their host country or root culture Immigrant women s identity is therefore far more fluid and regulated by both social and state institutions they encounter

Identity and Integration Bernhard Peters, 2017-03-02 Symbolic boundaries cultural differences and ethnic conflicts have gained significance and new meanings in a global situation characterized by the dissolution of traditional political and societal structures Communications and political and economic interactions increasingly cross the borders of states nations and ethnic communities and yet symbolic borders and separate group identities are nevertheless asserted The perceived efforts of migrants to maintain their cultural and ethnic identities are often blamed as a cause of conflict within nation states This intriguing volume recognizes that migrants with an Islamic background are seen as especially problematic cases Turks are the biggest category among Muslim migrants in Europe and more than one third of all Muslim migrants in Europe are from Turkey Referring primarily to immigration from Turkey this book combines both exemplary case studies of Turks within Europe and theoretical papers with innovative perspectives on the relations between integration and identity

Migration, Diaspora and Identity Georgina Tsolidis, 2013-10-07 Framed in relation to diaspora this collection engages with the subject of how cultural difference is lived and how complex and shifting identities shape and respond to spatial politics of belonging Diaspora is understood in a variety of ways which makes this an eclectic collection of papers Authors use various theoretical frameworks to explore diverse groups of people with a variety of experiences in a wide range of settings They are making sense of the experiences of women and men from a range of ethnic backgrounds negotiating identities through family work and education The micro dynamics of the everyday offer an evocative bottom up means of understanding the tensions implicit in living multiple belongings The common thread for the collection comes from the glimpses these authors provide into the remaking of our globalized world The aim is to shed light on racism dislocation and alienation on the one hand and on the other hand to consider how the complex power relations within the everyday mediate a sense of resistance and hope The papers are arranged around four themes 1 Multiple Belongings 2 Representing a Way of Being 3 Sexualised Identifications and 4 Marriage and Family Transnationalism, Migration and the Challenge to Europe Kevin Robins,Asu Aksoy,2015-10-23 Transnationalism Migration and the Challenge to Europe The Enlargement of Meaning puts forward an alternative outline for thinking about migration in a European context Moving beyond the agenda of identity politics the book addresses possibilities more related to the experiential and existential dimensions of migratory and importantly post migratory lives Examining the fundamental and radical argument that migrants should be regarded not as a problematical category but rather as opening up new cultural and imaginative channels for those living in Europe the book draws on extensive empirical work by the authors undertaken over the past ten years Grounded in the actual lives and experiences of migrant Turks the book evaluates how their articulations regarding identity and belonging have been changing over the last decade The agenda regarding migration and belonging has shifted over this crucial period of time This shift is counterpoised against the unchanging national positions and against the supra national stance of official European approaches and policies regarding migration and identity Transnationalism Migration and the Challenge to Europe would be of interest to those involved in sociology anthropology transnational studies migration studies cultural studies media studies European studies Transcultural Identity Constructions in a Changing World Irene Gilsenan Nordin,Chatarina Edfeldt,Lung-Lung Hu,Herbert Jonsson,2016 In a broad outlook on the concept of transculturality 19 authors and specialists of diverse origins consider how transculturality can help us understand the world The contributions deal with literary texts movies drama and visual art The chapters cover themes such as multiculturalism stereotypes movement or bilingual writing Camden Town Oberstufe. On the Move. Niedersachsen ,2023-05 "We Call Them Tracht" Alissa Melitzer,2017 This thesis examines instances of language alternation and code switching in the context of recorded face to face interviews The participants in this study include two groups German speaking immigrants who left Europe to settle in Canada as well as the children of these immigrants Conversation analysis and interactional sociolinguistics are used as methods of analysis with a focus on how instances of language alternation and code switching are oriented to or not oriented to through the conversational mechanism of repair and how these repairs are treated by interactants Using positioning and identity theory the aim is to further explore how individuals who have knowledge influenced by multiple cultures and languages position themselves and their interlocutors with respect to their cultural experiences Another key focus is the role that positioning plays in the construction of transcultural identities From this the research questions address how interactants deal with cultural knowledge gaps between themselves and how in dealing with these gaps cultural identities are made relevant and thus visible interactionally The results of this research show first that a distinction can be made between language alternation and code switching that is based on interactants orientation to the use of more than one language within an interaction It is also clear that through the repair impacting some code switches interactants addressed and in many cases bridged the cultural knowledge gaps which had been identified within the interaction The results of this study are relevant to the question of how researchers can define and approach code switching as a conversational phenomenon In addition to this repair as it is used as a tool by speakers to construct transcultural identities has meaningful implications for research in the field of sociolinguistics in particular within the context of migration and cultural identity
