Yet Another Costume Party Debacle Ingrid A. Nelson,2024-12-11 How the policies of elite colleges allow racially themed parties to continue by perpetuating the status quo On a cold February evening a group of students at Bowdoin College an elite and historically white liberal arts college in Maine gathered to drink tequila at a party referred to as not not a fiesta By noon the next day Instagram videos of students sporting miniature sombreros had spread like wildfire through campus Over the next few weeks national media outlets would broadcast the embarrassing fallout But the frequency with which similar parties recur on campuses across the United States begs the question what if anything do undergraduates learn about race and racism from these encounters Drawing on interviews and archival research Yet Another Costume Party Debacle shows us how colleges both contest and reproduce racialized systems of power Sociologist Ingrid A Nelson juxtaposes how students and administrators discuss race with how they behave in the aftermath of racially charged campus controversies Nelson spoke in depth with students and other key players in several controversial parties Cracksgiving a gangster party and the not not a fiesta tequila party at Bowdoin The college s administrative response failed to encourage productive dialogue or address larger questions about race on campus Nelson shows how the underlying campus structures at elite liberal arts colleges foster an environment that is ripe for racially charged incidents we shouldn't be surprised when we read about yet another costume party debacle Nelson advises how we can take charge of diversity on our campuses by changing the systems that bring students together and drive them apart The Consumption of Inequality K. Halnon, 2013-09-18 The fads, fashions and media in popular consumer culture frequently make recreational and ideological fun of poverty and lower class living In this book Halnon delineates how incarceration, segregation, stigmatization, cultural and social consecration and carnivalization work in the production and consumption of inequality Empires of Dust Layne Wallace, 2025-07-10 Empires of Dust examines the regression of societal institutions across the United States From the church to education to the military to work and the family this text documents the regression of societal institutions More than documenting the decline the text describes the causes of institutional decline and cuts a pathway toward renewal Sociology David M. Newman, 2020-01-28 In Sociology: Exploring the Architecture of Everyday Life David Newman shows students how to see the unfamiliar in the familiar to step back and see organization and predictability in their personal experiences Through his approachable writing style and lively personal anecdotes the author has maintained his goal from the first edition to write a textbook that reads like a real book Many adopters of this book are fans of Peter Berger's classic works which helped introduce the idea of social constructionism to sociology Newman uses the metaphors of architecture and construction to help students understand that society is not something that exists out there independently of themselves it is a human creation that is planned, maintained or altered by individuals Using vivid prose, current examples and recent data the Thirteenth Edition presents a unique and thought provoking overview of how society is constructed and experienced Instead of surveying every subfield in sociology the more streamlined coverage 14 chapters focuses on the individual and society the construction of self and society and social inequality in the context of social structures Included with this title The password protected Instructor Resource Site formally known as SAGE Edge offers access to all text specific resources including a test bank and editable chapter specific PowerPoint slides
