Kerry Segrave, 2014-11-18 Foreign films once enjoyed a position of prominence on American theater screens By the start of World War I however the United States film industry was strong enough to challenge that foreign presence and foreign films in America have been insignificant ever since For about a century the Hollywood cartel has dominated the production distribution and exhibition of movies domestically and around the world This work traces the history of the foreign film in America from its domination in the early days to its low standing in the present looking at the attempts made by foreign producers to increase their presence on American cinema screens the responses by Hollywood to those attempts and the oligopoly of Hollywood's few producers. The work discusses the cultural differences between foreign artistic expression and the commercialism of the American film and analyzes Hollywood's explanations for the lack of a foreign presence. Americans have unique tastes; they don't like subtitles; foreign films are immoral or badly made; trade union pressure; and so on. An appendix detailing the all-time gross earnings of foreign language films and a full bibliography conclude the work, which is illustrated with stills and posters.

The Award Movies Roy Pickard, 1980 America's Best, Britain's Finest John Howard Reid, 2006-03-01 What is a mixed movie? A film to which artists of various nationalities contribute. Popular examples are Land of the Pharaohs, The Bridge on the River Kwai, Casino Royale, and The Sundowners. British players like Errol Flynn, Stewart Granger, Rex Harrison, and James Mason have always been welcome in Hollywood. Not so well known are the numerous examples of American actors who lent their talents to British films, such as Robert Ayres, Phyllis Kirk, Mona Freeman, Frank Sinatra, Carol Lynley, William Bendix, Russ Tamblyn, William Holden, Raquel Welch, Joan Crawford, Gene Tierney, Van Johnson, Vincent Price, Tab Hunter, Alex Nicol, Zachary Scott, and Wayne Morris, to mention but a few such appearances that are detailed in this book.

Hollywood Genres and Postwar America Mike Chopra-Gant, 2005-10-28 This is a clear and engrossing account of how popular films in America just after the close of the Second World War played out America's mood at that crucial time. It is also a revisionist challenge to received scholarly understanding of this mood, which has tended to be seen as characterized by an abiding pessimism, most clearly manifested in the films noir of the period. Chopra-Gant makes here an important contribution to film genre, which proposes that the noir and Zeitgeist reading is based on the retrospective promotion of selected movies. He turns to the top box office successes of the period, including Best Years of our Lives, The Jolson Story, and Two Years Before the Mast, finding that these films emphasise rather the triumph of American beliefs in democracy, classlessness, and individualism. They deploy positive performative masculinities and the pleasures of male friendships and celebrate the traditional American family while recognising the problems of motherism and absent fathers.
