Data Privacy and Competition Law in the Age of Big Data Samson Y.

Esayas,2024-06-24 The monetization of personal data has become an increasingly common business practice igniting global debate on the interface between data privacy law and competition law Data Privacy and Competition Law in the Age of Big Data provides a comprehensive novel and interdisciplinary analysis of this nexus Drawing insights from emergent properties and complexity science the book exposes the commonalities and conflicts between how data privacy law and competition law address challenges resulting from the commercialization of personal data Samson Y Esayas begins by identifying key shifts in big data the growing trend of processing personal data for diverse purposes the aggregation of data across various operations and the shift from offering stand alone products and services to ecosystems of several with personal data central in connecting the different markets These shifts engender a complex economic landscape marked by multiple actors a web of interactions and non linear emergent outcomes Despite this complexity the prevailing approach to data privacy law and competition law emphasises isolated units of analysis whether a relevant market or a distinct processing operation This approach overlooks system wide emergent risks borne of cumulative processing operations and cross market practices Additionally a mindset focused on either data privacy law or competition law overlooks the increasing intersection between the two regimes missing opportunities for synergy In light of these challenges Esayas s volume calls for recalibrating data privacy law and competition law for a complex economy emphasizing a holistic systems level perspective that addresses emergent harms and a polycentric strategy that leverages the strengths of each legal regime Exploring Windows 10 May 2020 Edition Kevin Wilson,2020-06-30 Updated to cover the May 2020 Update also known as Version 20H1

Software Testing in the Cloud Scott Tilley, Tauhida Parveen, 2012-09-13 For a large complex system the amount of test cases in a regression test suite can range from a few hundred to several thousands which can take hours or even days to execute Regression testing also requires considerable resources that are often not readily available This precludes their use in an interactive setting further contributing to an inefficient testing process Cloud computing offers the use of virtualized hardware effectively unlimited storage and software services that can help reduce the execution time of large test suites in a cost effective manner The research presented by Tilley and Parveen leverages the resources provided by cloud computing infrastructure to facilitate the concurrent execution of test cases They introduce a decision framework called SMART T to support migration of software testing to the cloud a distributed environment called HadoopUnit for the concurrent execution of test cases in the cloud and a series of case studies illustrating the use of the framework and the environment Experimental results indicate a significant reduction in test execution time is possible when compared with a typical sequential environment Software testing in the cloud is a subject of high interest for advanced practitioners and academic researchers alike For advanced practitioners the issue of cloud computing and its impact on the field of software testing is becoming increasingly relevant For academic researchers this is a subject that is replete with interesting challenges there are so many open problems that graduate students will be busy for years to come To further disseminate results in this field the authors created a community of interest called Software Testing in the Cloud www.STITC.org and they encourage all readers to get involved in this exciting new area
