Claim:

There are different aquatic systems with diverse organisms.

Evidence	Reasoning/Justification
Aquatic ecosystems have abiotic - temp, light, salinity, depth	Different organisms can tolerate different factors
Some organisms prefer fresh water vs. saltwater. Bull sharks + manatees tolerate both	Bull sharks and manatees are very different, but tolerate same conditions
Depth reduces light and increases pressure. Organisms deal with this differently.	Many types of adaptations exist to survive in these conditions
The geography of an aquatic environment can determine the life forms present.	Continental shelf gets lots of light, so there's many living things. Not so in the abyss.
Photosynthesis takes place in the neritic zone.	It is the most productive area of the ocean. Plankton are base of food chain.
Metabolism is affected by temp. Many species are cold-blooded.	Organisms can migrate or must have adaptations to survive.

Routledge Companion to Literary Urban Studies provides a methodical overview of the fundamentals of this developing discipline and a detailed outline of new directions in the field. It consists of 33 newly commissioned chapters that provide an outline of contemporary literary urban studies. The Companion covers all of the main theoretical approaches as well as key literary genres with case studies covering a range of different geographical, cultural, and historical settings. The final chapters provide a window into new debates in the field. The three focal issues are key concepts and genres of literary urban studies, a reassessment and critique of classical urban studies theories, and the canon of literary capitals and methods for the analysis of cities in literature. The Routledge Companion to Literary Urban Studies provides the reader with practical insights into the methods and approaches that can be applied to the city in literature and serves as an important reference work for upper level students and researchers working on city literature. Changing Practices, Changing Education Stephen Kemmis, Jane Wilkinson, Christine Edwards-Groves, Ian Hardy, Peter Grootenboer, Laurette Bristol, 2013-11-08. This book aims to help teachers and those who support them to re-imagine the work of teaching, learning, and leading. In particular, it shows how transformations of educational practice depend on complementary transformations in classroom, school, and system-level organisational cultures, resourcing, and politics. It argues that transforming education requires more than professional development to transform teachers; it also calls for fundamental changes in learning and leading practices, which in turn means reshaping organisations that support teachers and teaching, organisational cultures, the resources organisations provide and distribute, and the relationships that connect people with one another in organisations. The book is based on findings from new research being conducted by the authors, the research team for the 2010-2012 Australian Research Council funded Discovery Project 'Leading and Learning: Developing Ecologies of Educational Practice'.
