Plants as Sources for Novel Medicines Ameyatma Mahajan,2025-01-03 Plants as Sources for Novel Medicines delves into the vital role plants play in providing essential resources for human well being Their unique metabolisms produce compounds beneficial to human health making them indispensable in drug development Many traditional methods of drug preparation use plant derived compounds for their remarkable healing properties Our book explores the various techniques used to produce drugs from plants highlighting the advancements in recent methods while emphasizing the need to protect endangered plant species We cover the different stages of drug preparation discussing the properties of plants and their application in modern medicine We also touch on the importance of botany and related fields in drug development illustrating how sophisticated methods in plant based drug preparation are transforming healthcare This book is an invaluable resource for understanding how plants contribute to developing novel medicines and improving human health

Plant-Growth-Promoting Rhizobacteria

(PGPR) and Medicinal Plants Dilfuza Egamberdieva, Smriti Shrivastava, Ajit Varma, 2015-02-07 This book describes the various applications of microorganisms in improving plant growth health and the efficiency of phytochemical production The chapters trace topics such as the role of PGPRs in improving salt stress and heavy metal tolerance in plants the prevention and control of plant diseases boosting soil fertility and agriculture productivity the induction of secondary metabolite biosynthesis in medicinal and aromatic plants the enhancement of phytochemical levels and the action mechanisms diversity and characterization of PGPRs The reviews will be of interest for scientists in the fields of agriculture microbiology soil biology plant breeding and herbal medicinal products

Forests and Human Health Carol J. Pierce Colfer, Douglas Sheil, Misa Kishi, 2006-01-01 This study has two central concerns the state of human health in forests and the causal links between forests and human health Within this framework we consider four issues related to tropical forests and human health First we discuss forest foods emphasizing the forest as a food producing habitat human dependence on forest foods the nutritional contributions of such foods and nutrition related problems that affect forest peoples Our second topic is disease and other health problems In addition to the major problems HIV AIDS malaria Ebola and mercury poisoning we address some 20 other tropical diseases and health problems related to forests The third topic is medicinal products We review the biophysical properties of medicinal species and consider related indigenous knowledge human uses of medicinal forest products the serious threats to forest sustainability and the roles of traditional healers with a discussion of the benefits of forest medicines and conflicts over their distribution Our fourth and final topic is the cultural interpretations of human health found among forest peoples including holistic world views that impinge on health and indigenous knowledge The Occasional Paper concludes with some observations about the current state of our knowledge its utility and shortcomings and our suggestions for future research

Breeding Research on Aromatic and Medicinal Plants Christopher B Johnson, Chlodwig Franz, 2024-11-01 The field of medicinal aromatic plant breeding is growing and changing this resource will help you stay up to date In this essential book researchers from large and small laboratories and institutions throughout Europe and the Mediterranean region explore recent developments in the selection and breeding of aromatic and medicinal plants They take varied approaches from traditional breeding to the use of molecular markers and complement them with up to date information on biodiversity and resource conservation From the editors It is widely recognized that a strategy of conservation through use by which plant collection via wild harvesting is replaced by controlled cultivation is the best way forward if we are to balance human demands with the necessary conservation of the biodiversity represented by these species That provides one major driving force for research in this field Another concerns the very real need for improving the quality control of products on the market both to satisfy consumer demand and to conform with the justifiably increasing requirements for standardization and precise identification of the composition of the plant materials being sold for human use We hope that this volume will give readers a taste of the exciting developments in the field Breeding Research on Aromatic and Medicinal Plants examines breeding for resistance and abiotic factors manipulating natural product accumulation through genetic engineering biochemical and molecular regulation of essential oil accumulation economic and legal considerations that breeders will encounter the ethical aspects of breeding these plants South American
