Cells, Teacher's Guide, Membrane Structure and Mechanisms of Biological Energy Transduction J. Avery, 2012-12-06

The problem of electron transfer phosphorylation was first formulated in 1939 by Belitser and Tsibakova I who introduced the P/O criterion and showed that this ratio is more than 1 The authors noted that such a high value of the phosphorylation coefficient suggests a fundamental difference in the mechanisms of ATP formation coupled with respiration and glycolysis since in the latter case the amount of the ATP synthesized is equal to that of the substrate utilized A lot of hypothetical schemes were put forward to explain the nature of coupling between electron transfer and phosphorylation but none of them solved the problem Only quite recently one hypothetical scheme of energy coupling viz Mitchell's chemiosmotic concept 2/3 was supported by experimental data which allow us to prefer it to alternative possibilities In this paper I shall try to substantiate the statement that oxidation and phosphorylation can be coupled via a membrane potential as was postulated by Mitchell

Physiology of Membrane Disorders Thomas E. Andreoli, Darrell D. Fanestil, Joseph F. Hoffman, Stanley G. Schultz, 2013-11-11 The second edition of

Physiology of Membrane Disorders represents an extensive revision and a considerable expansion of the first edition Yet the purpose of the second edition is identical to that of its predecessor namely to provide a rational analysis of membrane transport processes in individual membranes cells tissues and organs which in turn serves as a frame of reference for rationalizing disorders in which derangements of membrane transport processes play a cardinal role in the clinical expression of disease As in the first edition this book is divided into a number of individual but closely related sections Part V represents a new section where the problem of transport across epithelia is treated in some detail Finally Part VI which analyzes clinical derangements has been enlarged appreciably THE EDITORS xi Preface to the First Edition The purpose of this book is to provide the reader with a rational frame of reference for assessing the pathophysiology of those disorders in which derangements of membrane transport processes are a major factor responsible for the clinical manifestations of disease In the present context we use the term membrane transport to refer to those molecular processes whose cardinal function broadly speaking is processes in a catholic sense the vectorial transfer of molecules either individually or as ensembles across biological interfaces the latter including those interfaces which separate different intracellular compartments the cellular and extracellular compartments and secreted fluids such as glomerular filtrate and extracellular fluids
