Reading Instruction in America Barbara Ruth Peltzman, 2015-10-02 The diversity of student populations in the United States presents educators with many challenges To provide effective reading instruction for the individual student teachers must understand the enormous variety of reading methods and materials that exist and make independent decisions based on their students particular needs Research indicates that educators are often influenced by reading instruction fads that quickly fade making it more challenging to develop a repertoire of teaching strategies in which a teacher may have confidence This book examines a variety of reading methods used in American schools from the 19th to the 21st century and the literature promoting or critiquing them to help teachers become informed decision makers and better meet the needs of students

A History of the Book in America David Paul Nord, Joan Shelley Rubin, Michael Schudson, 2015-12-01 The fifth volume of A History of the Book in America addresses the economic social and cultural shifts affecting print culture from World War II to the present During this period factors such as the expansion of government the growth of higher education the climate of the Cold War globalization and the development of multimedia and digital technologies influenced the patterns of consolidation and diversification established earlier The thirty three contributors to the volume explore the evolution of the publishing industry and the business of bookselling The histories of government publishing law and policy the periodical press literary criticism and reading in settings such as schools libraries book clubs self help programs and collectors societies receive imaginative scrutiny as well The Enduring Book demonstrates that the corporate consolidations of the last half century have left space for the independent publisher that multiplicity continues to define American print culture and that even in the digital age the book endures Contributors David Abrahamson Northwestern University James L Baughman University of Wisconsin Madison Kenneth Cmiel d 2006 James Danky University of Wisconsin Madison Robert DeMaria Jr Vassar College Donald A Downs University of Wisconsin Madison Robert W Frase d 2003 Paul C Gutjahr Indiana University David D Hall Harvard Divinity School John B Hench American Antiquarian Society Patrick Henry New York City College of Technology Dan Lacy d 2001 Marshall Leaffer Indiana University Bruce Lewenstein Cornell University Elizabeth Long Rice University Beth Luey Arizona State University Tom McCarthy Beirut Lebanon Laura J Miller Brandeis University Priscilla Coit Murphy Chapel Hill N C David Paul Nord Indiana University Carol Polsgrove Indiana University David Reinking Clemson University Jane Rhodes Macalester College John V Richardson Jr University of California Los Angeles Joan Shelley Rubin University of Rochester Michael Schudson University of California San Diego and Columbia University Linda Scott University of Oxford Dan Simon Seven Stories Press Ilan Stavans Amherst College Harvey M Teres Syracuse University John B Thompson University of Cambridge Trysh Travis University of Florida Jonathan Zimmerman New York University

A Scoping Study Into

Perceptions of Phonological Pedagogy in Rural Ghana Christopher John Counihan, 2010-01-27 Ghana's education system is in a state of transition. Since the introduction of the Free and Compulsory Universal Basic Education (FCUBE) initiative in 1995, the country has struggled to meet with the demands of providing accessible schooling for children at any level. Moreover, with the underdevelopment of early years and primary provision, more children face slipping through the net. The battle to get children into schools and keep them there is proving to be problematic across the country. As a result, children are losing out on vital core learning experiences, particularly literacy. English is the medium of instruction in Ghana and is taught in schools from the primary level. However, with a blend of English and mother tongue instruction, children are finding it significantly harder to grasp the basic skills. As a result, support from NGOs and teaching professionals have sought to find practical solutions through vis vis and reciprocal partnerships.

The Linguistics, Neurology, and Politics of Phonics Steven L. Strauss, 2005-01-15 This book explores the driving forces behind the current government-sponsored resurrection of phonics and the arguments used to justify it. It examines the roles played by three key actors: corporate America, politicians, and state-supported reading researchers in the formulation of what Strauss terms the neophonics political program. Essential for researchers, students, and teachers of literacy and reading, and for anyone seeking to understand what is happening in U.S. public schools today. The Linguistics, Neurology, and Politics of Phonics: Silent E Speaks Out analyzes the political nature of the alleged literacy crisis in the United States through an investigation of the political and corporate motives behind the renewed focus on phonics and media complicity in promoting the neophonics political program as the solution to the so-called crisis. It examines the scientific claims of neophonics, including methodology, linguistics, and neuroscience, and exposes the flaws in its reasoning and the weakness of its arguments. It addresses the scientific, empirical investigation of letter-sound relationships in English, of phonics itself, and demonstrates the complexity of the system and its associated benefits and limitations in the theory and practice of reading. It proposes actions to help make a return to politically undistorted science and to democratic classrooms a reality and introduces, in a postscript, a formal analysis of the letter-sound system using empirically based rules to convert one finite set of elements the alphabet into another the phonemes of the spoken language Offering up to date information and an original critique this book makes two important contributions One is the policy analysis linking government agencies policymakers and corporate interests The second is the neurological and linguistic treatment of why traditional phonics programs are not the solution and why the rhetoric developed to support their resurgence is so far off the mark
