Mobility and Migration in Ancient Mesoamerican Cities M. Charlotte Arnauld, Christopher Beekman, Grégory Pereira, 2021-02-01 Mobility and Migration in Ancient Mesoamerican Cities is the first focused book length discussion of migration in central Mexico west Mexico and the Maya region presenting case studies on population movement in and among Classic Epiclassic and Postclassic Mesoamerican societies and polities within the framework of urbanization and deurbanization Looking beyond the conceptual dichotomy of sedentism versus mobility the contributors show that mobility and migration reveal a great deal about the formation development and decline of town and city based societies in the ancient world In a series of data rich chapters that address specific evidence for movement in their respective study areas an international group of scholars assesses mobility through the isotopic and demographic analysis of human remains stratigraphic identification of gaps in occupation and local intensification of water capture in the Maya lowlands Others examine migration through the integration of historic and archaeological evidence in Michoacán and Yucatán and by registering how daily life changed in response to the influx of new people in the Basin of Mexico Offering a range of critical insights into the vital and understudied role that mobility and migration played in complex agrarian societies Mobility and Migration in Ancient Mesoamerican Cities will be of value to Mesoamericanist archaeologists ethnohistorians and bioarchaeologists and to any scholars working on complex societies Contributors Jaime J Awe Meggan Bullock Sarah C Clayton Andrea Cucina Veronique Darras Nicholas P Dunning Melanie Forn Marion Forest Carolyn Freiwald Elizabeth Graham Nancy Gonlin Julie A Hoggarth Linda Howie Elsa Jadot Kristin V Landau Eva Lemonnier Dominique Michelet David Ortega Zapata Prudence M Rice Thelma N Sierra Sosa Michael P Smyth Vera Tiesler Eric Weaver Papers of the New World Archaeological Foundation, 1983 Human Figuration and Fragmentation in Preclassic Mesoamerica Julia

Guernsey, 2020-02-27 Explores the social significance of representation of the human body in Preclassic Mesoamerica The Southern Maya in the Late Preclassic Michael Love, Jonathan H. Kaplan, 2011 From 400 BC to AD 250 the southern Maya region was one of the most remarkable civilizations of the ancient Americas Filled with great cities linked by flourishing long distance trade shared elite ideologies and a vibrant material culture this region was pivotal not only for the Maya but for Mesoamerica as a whole Although it has been of great interest to scholars gaps in the knowledge have led to debate on the most vital questions about the southern region Recent research has provided a wealth of broadly based new data that have expanded the understanding of this region and its influence on greater Mesoamerica In The Southern Maya in the Late Preclassic prominent contributors debate whether the southern region was indeed Maya or instead a region of intense multiethnic interaction with speakers of many languages and many sources of identity The chapters address a host of advanced developments to which this area can lay claim urbanism and city states the earliest Maya writing and the origin of the Maya calendar as well as additional issues including the construction of social and cultural identities economic networks of early complex societies relationships between the Maya and the Olmec and a comprehensive discussion of the ancient city of Kaminaljuyu and its relationship to other cities in the region Encyclopaedia of the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine in Non-Western Cultures Helaine Selin, 2013-11-11 The Encyclopaedia fills a gap in both the history of science and in cultural studies Reference works on other cultures tend either to omit science completely or pay little attention to it and those on the history of science almost always start with the Greeks with perhaps a mention of the Islamic world as a translator of Greek scientific works The purpose of the Encyclopaedia is to bring together knowledge of many disparate fields in one place and to legitimize the study of other cultures science Our aim is not to claim the superiority of other cultures but to engage in a mutual exchange of ideas The Western academic divisions of science technology and medicine have been united in the Encyclopaedia because in ancient cultures these disciplines were connected This work contributes to redressing the balance in the number of reference works devoted to the study of Western science and encourages awareness of cultural diversity The Encyclopaedia is the first compilation of this sort and it is testimony both to the earlier Eurocentric view of academia as well as to the widened vision of today There is nothing that crosses disciplinary and geographic boundaries dealing with both scientific and philosophical issues to the extent that this work does xi PERSONAL NOTE FROM THE EDITOR Many years ago I taught African history at a secondary school in Central Africa Encyclopedia of Ancient Asian Civilizations Charles Higham, 2014-05-14 Discusses the historical and cultural changes that occurred in Asia throughout history Expanding the View of Hohokam Platform Mounds Mark D. Elson, 1998-10 For more than a hundred years archaeologists have investigated the function of earthen platform mounds in the American Southwest Built by the Hohokam groups between A D 1150 and 1350 these mounds are among the few monumental structures in the Southwest yet their use and the nature of the groups who built them remain unresolved Mark Elson now takes a fresh look at these monuments and sheds new light on their significance He goes beyond previous studies by examining platform mound function and social group organization through a cross cultural study of historic mound using groups in the Pacific Ocean region South America and the southeastern United States Using this information he develops a number of important new generalizations about how people used mounds Elson then applies these data to the study of a prehistoric settlement system in the eastern Tonto Basin of Arizona that contained five platform mounds He argues that the mounds were used variously as residences and ceremonial facilities by competing descent groups and were an indication of hereditary leadership They were important in group integration and resource management after abandonment they served as ancestral shrines Elson's study provides a fresh approach to an old puzzle and offers new suggestions regarding variability among Hohokam populations Its innovative use of comparative data and analyses enriches our understanding of both Hohokam culture and other ancient societies
