Spudis, 2016-04-26 While the Moon was once thought to hold the key to space exploration in recent decades the U S has largely turned its sights toward Mars and other celestial bodies instead In The Value of the Moon lunar scientist Paul Spudis argues that the U S can and should return to the moon in order to remain a world leader in space utilization and development and a participant in and beneficiary of a new lunar economy Spudis explores three reasons for returning to the Moon it is close it is interesting and it is useful The proximity of the Moon not only allows for frequent launches but also control of any machinery we place there It is interesting because recorded deep on its surface and in its craters is the preserved history of the moon the sun and indeed the entire galaxy And finally the moon is useful because it is rich with materials and energy The moon Spudis argues is a logical base for further space exploration and even a possible future home for us all Throughout his work Spudis incorporates details about man's fascination with the moon and its place in our shared history He also explores its religious cultural and scientific resonance and assesses its role in the future of spaceflight and our national security and prosperity
