

GRADE TWO
A	"N" always actively participates in a wide variety of program activities, according to their capabilities (e.g., individual and small-group activities, cooperative games, sport). "He/She" demonstrates excellent behaviours and applies procedures that maximize safety and lessen the risk of injury for themselves and others during physical activity (e.g., being aware of personal space; making sure their obstacles are tied; warming up to prevent injury). "He" is successfully able to perform a variety of locomotor movements with and without equipment, travelling in different directions and at different speeds, and using different pathways (e.g., hop sideways across a line, skip quickly, move at different speeds as required).
B	"N" typically actively participates in a wide variety of program activities, according to their capabilities (e.g., individual and small-group activities, cooperative games, sport). "He/She" demonstrates good behaviours and applies procedures that maximize safety and lessen the risk of injury for themselves and others during physical activity (e.g., being aware of personal space; making sure their obstacles are tied; warming up to prevent injury). "He" is able to perform a variety of locomotor movements with and without equipment, travelling in different directions and at different speeds, and using a few different pathways (e.g., hop sideways across a line, skip quickly, move at different speeds as required).
C	"N" occasionally participates in a wide variety of program activities, according to their capabilities (e.g., individual and small-group activities, cooperative games, sport). "He/She" demonstrates satisfactory behaviours and applies procedures that sometimes maximize safety and lessen the risk of injury for themselves and others during physical activity (e.g., being aware of personal space; making sure their obstacles are tied; warming up to prevent injury). "N" is partially able to perform a variety of locomotor movements with and without equipment, travelling in different directions and at different speeds, and using some different pathways (e.g., hop sideways across a line, skip quickly, move at different speeds as required).
D	"N" rarely participates in a wide variety of program activities, according to their capabilities (e.g., individual and small-group activities, cooperative games, sport). "He/She" demonstrates inconsistent behaviours and applies procedures that rarely maximize safety and lessen the risk of injury for themselves and others during physical activity (e.g., being aware of personal space; making sure their obstacles are tied; warming up to prevent injury). "He" makes attempts to perform a variety of locomotor movements with and without equipment, travelling in different directions and at different speeds, and using some different pathways (e.g., hop sideways across a line, skip quickly, move at different speeds as required).
