intuition and heuristics may be efficient decision making tools in any manager's toolbox. Critical thinking is useful for analyzing incoming information in the context of decision making and is crucial for structuring outgoing information in the context of persuasion. When trying to convince a client to buy a service, an executive board to fund a project, or a colleague to change a procedure, managers can use the simple step-by-step guides provided here to prepare for successful meetings and effective pitches. Managerial thinking can be steadily improved using a structured process, especially if we learn to think about our thinking. This book guides current and would-be managers through this process of improving and metathinking in connection with decision making and persuasion. Using examples from business together with research insights from Behavioral Economics and from Management and Organizational Cognition, the author illustrates common pitfalls like hidden assumptions and cognitive biases and provides easy-to-use solutions for testing hypotheses and resolving dilemmas.

Cataloging Correctly for Kids, Michele Zwierski, Marilyn McCroskey, Joanna F. Fountain, 2021-05-24. Cataloging library materials for children in the internet age has never been as challenging or as important. RDA (Resource Description and Access) is now the descriptive standard; there are new ways to find materials using classifications and subject heading access. This has been greatly enhanced by the keyword capabilities of today's online catalogs. It's the perfect moment to present a completely overhauled edition of this acclaimed bestseller. The new sixth edition guides catalogers, children's librarians, and LIS students in taking an effective approach towards materials intended for children and young adults. Informed by recent studies of how children search, this handbook's top-to-bottom revisions address areas such as how RDA applies to a variety of children's materials, with examples provided, authority control, bibliographic description, subject access, and linked data, electronic resources, and other non-book materials, and cataloging for non-English speaking and preliterate children.
