Reddit Latest Store Hours:

You Should Quit Reddit Jacob Desforges, 2023-02-21 In recent years countless books articles and documentaries have addressed the negative effects that social media platforms have wrought on their users and society However these former works are incomplete nearly no attention has been paid to Reddit one of the most popular websites in the world Reddit is certainly unique among social platforms but its potential for addiction and darker side of nefarious activity should absolutely not be understated Additionally nearly no actionable advice has been provided to users of these platforms The audience is told that these websites and apps are harming their mental health wasting their time and that they are addictive which would logically make the task of quitting rather difficult but then provided zero guidance on how to disconnect from them Over 200 000 users gather on Reddit's r/NoSurf community to discuss reducing their internet use the forum is filled with reports of people who want to quit Reddit but find themselves psychologically compelled to return to the site over and over For moderate to heavy users of these platforms quitting is clearly not so simple You Should Quit Reddit is a paradigm shift in the genre Jacob Desforges was a Reddit user of over a decade and a self admitted Reddit addict who spent on average around three hours daily on the site Not only is this the first book investigating Reddit's flaws as a platform but it is also written from the perspective of someone who experienced firsthand the struggle that comes with quitting these addictive platforms This book therefore also provides readers with the practical advice tools and techniques needed to shatter the cycle of digital addiction enabling them to quit visiting Reddit and other time wasting websites for good so they can effectively reclaim their time to use in a more intentional manner

Designing for Democracy Jennifer Forestal, 2022 How should we fix digital technologies to support democracy instead of undermining it In Designing for Democracy Jennifer Forestal argues that accurately evaluating the democratic potential of digital spaces means studying how the built environment a primary component of our modern public square structures our activity shapes our attitudes and supports the kinds of relationships and behaviors democracy requires While many scholars and practitioners are attentive to the role of design in shaping behavior they have yet to fully engage with the question of what structures are required to support democratic communities and how to build them Forestal closes this gap by providing a new theory of democratic space Drawing from a wide range of disciplines including architecture psychology and the history of political thought she argues that democratic spaces must be designed with three environmental characteristics boundaries durability and flexibility that taken together afford users the ability to engage in fundamental civic practices Through extended analyses of Facebook Twitter and Reddit Forestal shows precisely how well these digital platforms meet the criteria for democratic spaces or whether they do so at all The result is a more nuanced analysis of the democratic communities that form or fail to emerge in these spaces as well as more concrete suggestions for how to improve them In connecting the built environment digital technologies and democratic theory Designing for Democracy provides blueprints for democracy in a digital age
