Meditation On A Prisoner Towards Understanding Action And Mind:

Dynamics in Action Alicia Juarrero, 2002-01-25 What is the difference between a wink and a blink The answer is important not only to philosophers of mind for significant moral and legal consequences rest on the distinction between voluntary and involuntary behavior However action theory the branch of philosophy that has traditionally articulated the boundaries between action and non action and between voluntary and involuntary behavior has been unable to account for the difference Alicia Juarrero argues that a mistaken 350 year old model of cause and explanation one that takes all causes to be of the push pull efficient cause sort and all explanation to be prooflike underlies contemporary theories of action Juarrero then proposes a new framework for conceptualizing causes based on complex adaptive systems Thinking of causes as dynamical constraints makes bottom up and top down causal relations including those involving intentional causes suddenly tractable A different logic for explaining actions as historical narrative not inference follows if one adopts this novel approach to long standing questions of action and responsibility

The Mystery and Agency of God Frank G. Kirkpatrick, 2014-02-01 There are two philosophical commitments requisite to Christian belief that God is the ultimate mystery and that God is present and active in the world Attempting to avoid the trappings of a radical distantiation and the immanent collapse of God and world Frank Kirkpatrick argues for a theory of agency and action that preserves the mystery of God while providing a philosophically robust account of divine action in created time and space Kirkpatrick proposes a way around the stalemates that have stymied thought on divine agency and enters into conversation with significant figures in systematic theology

Meditation on a Prisoner Edward Pols, 1975 In this brilliant analysis of mind body problems Edward Pols adds new dimensions to the discussion of basic issues The prisoner is Socrates who in a series of actions involving moral decisions finds himself under sentence of death and who has now decided to undergo the sentence rather than accept the opportunity to escape provided by powerful friends Pols takes as his point of departure Socrates naive statement of the contrast between a scientific analysis of a moral action and the point of view taken by the agent himself and his rejection of the adequacy of the scientific analysis

Hegel's Philosophy of Spirit Peter G. Stillman, 1987-01-01 This book focuses on Hegel's philosophy of spirit his major concept and the core of his mature system It does not so much define Geist as it does illustrate its many forms and manifestations It is a broad ranging examination of Volume III of Hegel's Encyclopedia delineating his radical break with previous philosophy and illuminating the heart of his thought Several themes recur the meaning and content of recognition and intersubjectivity religion Hegel's predecessors and his contemporary successors or contrasts Hegel's intentions and his audacity are made both clear and sharp in this work

Mind Regained Edward Pols, 2019-05-15 In this highly accessible book a distinguished philosopher says current focus on the brain conceals the real powers of the mind Edward Pols revisits one of the basic topics of philosophy what is the distinction between mind and body and what is the relation between them He disagrees fundamentally with the many contemporary philosophers who concentrate on the findings of neurophysiology and cognitive science and so look only to the brain for the causes and explanation of mind Pols concedes the importance of such scientific studies but maintains that they focus on the infrastructure of mind and ignore the momentous difference between the infrastructure and mind itself Pols calls upon the reader to attend to mind itself as a concrete and experientially available reality This kind of attention he argues persuasively reveals mind to be at once causally dependent on the brain and causally effective on the physical processes of the brain and the world Pols also examines the hierarchical view of mind and causality first proposed by Plato and Aristotle the supersession of that view by the received scientific doctrine of causality and the mistaken denial of the power of the mind to know an independent reality a denial that resulted from the philosophical doctrines about knowing developed in the era that began with Descartes and ended with Kant

Ruminations, Volume 3: The Frozen Landscape: Selected Philosophical, Historical, and Ideological Papers Eric v.d. Luft, 2022-01-26 Essays poems and other short works on Heidegger Nietzsche the ontological argument Hegel Schopenhauer logic the philosophy of religion the philosophy of art socialism metaphysics and the principle of sufficient reason

Together Bound Frank G. Kirkpatrick, 1994-01-06 Challenging the assumption that the concept of divine action is necessarily paradoxical on the grounds that God is radically transcendent of finitude or can perform only a master act of creating and sustaining the universe Frank Kirkpatrick defends as philosophically credible the Christian conviction that God is a personal Agent who also acts in particular historical moments to further the divine intention of fostering universal community Kirkpatrick claims that God and the world are distinct realities together bound in a mutual relationship of reciprocal historical action In this relationship God both acts upon and responds to human beings in specific moments in their history The implications of this claim for understanding the biblical narrative the problem of evil cosmological theories and the realism of Christian community are pursued Biomusicology Nils Lennart Wallin, 1991 Wallin's discourse encompasses 1 the musical consequences of cerebral functional asymmetry 2 the hierarchic and selective organization of perceptual cognitive auditory processes 3 reticular limbic responses to musical stimuli interpreted as synapse modifying mechanisms for long term motivation and learning as well as for phylogenetical learning 4 the question of remnants or retentions with roots in the sound gestures of other vertebrates of a higher order and not solely the non human primates being active in the innermost structure of music 5 vocalization techniques e.g. the kolning technique of the late Paleolithic herding culture of Europe as paleobiological retention 6 the epistemological perspective of models of life processes as discussed in recent scientific research BOOK JACKET Reenchantment without Supernaturalism David Ray

Griffin, 2018-08-06 The process philosophy of Alfred North Whitehead and Charles Hartshorne has made many distinctive contributions to the philosophy of religion David Ray Griffin now offers the first full scale philosophy of religion written from this perspective discussing such topics as the relationship between science and religion the validity of religious experience the nature and existence of God religious pluralism creation and evolution and the problem of evil Griffin's clear and comprehensive book also serves as a valuable introduction to process philosophy itself In his vigorous defense of a worldview that is fully naturalistic and fully religious Griffin shows not only how this position reconciles naturalism with freedom genuine religious experience and even life after death but also how its naturalistic theism reenchants the world in the sense of providing cosmic support for moral values Highly original and sometimes controversial Griffin's book develops its stance in conversation with influential proponents of other philosophical positions including William P Alston Jürgen Habermas John Hick Colin McGinn Alvin Plantinga Hilary Putnam Willard Quine Ninian Smart Jeffrey Stout and Bernard Williams

Believing and Acting G. Scott Davis, 2012-03-16 How should religion and ethics be studied if we want to understand what people believe and why they act the way they do In the 1980s and 90s postmodernist worries about led to debates that turned on power truth and relativism Since the turn of the century scholars impressed by cognitive science have introduced concepts drawn from evolutionary biology neurosciences and linguistics in the attempt to provide naturalist accounts of religion Deploying concepts and arguments that have their roots in the pragmatism of C S Peirce Believing and Acting argues that both approaches are misguided and largely unhelpful in answering the questions that matter What did those people believe then How does it relate to what these people want to do now What is our evidence for our interpretations Pragmatic inquiry into these questions recommends an approach that questions grand theories advocates a critical pluralism about religion and ethics that defies disciplinary boundaries in the pursuit of the truth Rationality on a pragmatic approach is about solving particular problems in medias res thus there is no hard and fast line to be drawn between inquiry and advocacy both are essential to negotiating day to day life The upshot is an approach to religion and ethics in which inquiry looks much like the art history of Michael Baxandall and advocacy like the art criticism of Arthur Danto German Idealism's Trinitarian Legacy Dale M. Schlitt, 2016-10-20 Dale M Schlitt presents a study of trinitarian thought as it was understood and debated by the German Idealists broadly engaging Schelling's philosophical interpretations of Trinity as well as Hegel's and analyzing how these Idealist interpretations influenced later philosophers and theologians Divided into different sections one considers nineteenth century central Europeans Philipp Marheineke Isaak August Dorner and Vladimir Sergeyevich Solovyov under the rubric testimonials Another section studies twentieth century Germans Karl Barth Karl Rahner and Wolfhart Pannenberg who share family resemblances with the Idealists and a third addresses the work of twentieth and twenty first century Americans Robert W Jenson Catherine Mowry LaCugna Joseph A Bracken and Schlitt himself whose work reverberates with what Schlitt terms transatlantic Idealist echoes The book concludes with reflection on the overall German Idealist trinitarian legacy noting several challenges it offers to those who will pursue creative trinitarian reflection in the future The Rehabilitation of Whitehead George R. Lucas, 1989-01-01 Lucas book competently brings Whitehead's philosophy into dialogue with analytic philosophy. This is a topic of great originality and considerable potential importance for the field of philosophy. The writing is forceful, concise, and clear. George L. Kline, Bryn Mawr College. Lucas treats Whitehead within the framework of major themes in current Anglo-American analytic philosophy, viewed against the backdrop of significant historical trends in European and American thought since the Enlightenment. This most misunderstood of twentieth-century philosophers is critically interpreted here. Whitehead had developed 50 years ago some ideas only now emerging in analytic philosophy. Lucas examines the significance of Whitehead's thought for current epistemology of science, for the anti-foundationalism debate, and more generally for modal logic, action theory, philosophical psychology, and the philosophy of mind. He shows how some recent analytic philosophy is now developing ideas concerning language, personal identity, and other topics that are found in Whitehead. Lucas concludes with recent problems in relativity theory and quantum mechanics, indicating how these bear on the philosophy of science and on the task of forging a comprehensive understanding of nature. He examines the debates concerning Einstein and Whitehead on relativity and analyzes the work of Bohm, Prigogine, and others who have found Whitehead's categories useful for their own success. Whitehead is shown to be a historical figure of great importance, not an idiosyncratic thinker isolated along with a few enthusiastic followers from the mainstream of contemporary philosophy. With Russell, Whitehead participated in the same philosophical world that gave rise to analytic philosophy.

Radical Realism

Edward Pols, 1992 In this eloquent and original book, Edward Pols challenges the linguistic consensus that has dominated Anglo-American philosophy in this century. Against the consensus assumption that the only reality question is about the relation between language and the real, he argues that philosophy is about the world and not merely about the propositional structures we use to interpret the world. The heart of his radical realism is that the relation between the knower and the real is prior to the relation between language and the real, and that in this prior relation we are capable of knowing directly a reality independent of the human mind.

Metaphysics as Foundation

Paul A. Bogaard, Gordon Treash, 1993-01-01 The essays in this book examine the proposition that an interpretation of subjects and subjectivity from the ontological perspective first outlined by Alfred North Whitehead and elaborated by Ivor Leclerc provides the foundation that is essential in order to develop a philosophy of nature and human action.

Society and Spirit Joseph A. Bracken, 1991

Alfred North Whitehead's master work Process and Reality is intended to extend the cosmological vision of Whitehead in a new direction. By interpreting societies within Whitehead's scheme as structured fields of activity, the author projects a universe of hierarchically ordered fields of activity up to and including the all-compassing field of activity constituted by the Christian Trinity.

Recovery of the Measure Robert C. Neville, 1989-08-15 Neville's most significant scholarly contribution is arguably his metaphysical theory of being or being itself, a new theory that involves an original solution to the ancient problem of the one and the many He developed this theory for his PhD dissertation at Yale University graduated 1963 of which his first book God the Creator constitutes a substantial revision Exploring the implications of that theory has enabled him to produce a philosophy of nature that rivals Alfred North Whitehead's in scope and power as can be seen from his three volume Axiology of Thinking The first volume in that trilogy Reconstruction of Thinking 1981 was hailed by Donald W Sherburne editor of the corrected edition of Whitehead's Process and Reality as a truly important book It is the first genuinely neo Whiteheadian offering on a large systematic scale The second volume of the trilogy Recovery of the Measure Interpretation and Nature 1989 was also well received The prominent Confucian scholar and philosopher David L Hall wrote of it as follows Because of its timeliness the brilliance of its arguments and the profundity of its conclusions

Community

Frank G. Kirkpatrick, 2008-12-15 Community like love is a concept everybody talks about but nobody bothers to define From the community of scholars to the community of nations we passionately seek and widely take for granted a quality of interrelatedness that touches a chord deep within each of us whose vibrations we spend little time submitting to critical examination Frank Kirkpatrick's rigorous and detailed discussion of community places that notion within a discussion that has developed among philosophers over the past 200 years Beginning with the contractual model of Hobbes and Locke in which individuals work out rules to control their enforced proximity he moves on to the more complex organic model of Marx and Engels and beyond that the work of Whitehead in which individuals now interact with one another as organically related parts of a greater whole Finally he devotes most of his attention to a third highly personal model of community which owes its most sophisticated recent formulation to John Macmurray Within that model he sees the greatest possibilities for developing a coherent and comprehensive notion of community that takes seriously both the unique individuality of each person and the possibility for these individuals to commit themselves to loving fellowship with each other
