Lost Letters from Vienna Sue Course,2019-11-01 In 1977 Sue Course discovered a box of airmail letters in the dark recesses of a cupboard written in German Her German was rusty but she could see that most were from her parents and grandparents and were written from the time of the Nazi invasion of Vienna in 1938 The letters revealed a gripping tale of their war and that of their extended family the stories of those who escaped and eventually resettled across the globe and their experiences in that process The story was fleshed out through the later discovery of diaries and far flung family members war memoirs For Sue's family their entitlement to be a part of Viennese society and a citizen of the Austrian nation itself was lost when the Nazis annexed her country Sue was just four when she arrived in Australia with her family too young to appreciate the penurious circumstances of their life at a time where German speaking foreigners were viewed as enemy aliens and where there was little immediate opportunity for non English speaking professionals to find respect or employment in their professions Antipodean life was a far cry from the genteel experience of being raised in Vienna and this story documents superbly the displacement dislocation and immense

Self, Others and the State Arlie Loughnan, 2019-12-12 Criminal responsibility is now central to criminal law but it is in need of re examination In the context of Australian criminal laws Self Others and the State reassesses

the general assumptions made about the rise to prominence of criminal responsibility in the period since around the turn of the twentieth century It reconsiders the role of criminal responsibility in criminal law arguing that criminal responsibility is significant because it organises key sets of relations between self others and the state as relations of responsibility Detailed studies of decisive moments and developments since the turn of the twentieth century and original explorations of relations of responsibility expose the complexity and dynamism of criminal responsibility and reveal that it is the means by which matters of subjectivity relationality and power make themselves felt in the criminal law

Homes in High Flats Pearl Jephcott, 2023-04-25 Originally published in 1971 Homes in High Flats was written at a time when multi storey flats were a popular solution to the world wide need for mass housing because they could be produced with speed However the social implications of domestic housing in high flats were causing local authorities in Western Europe to reconsider their efficiency Original research into this question forms the basis of this book which concentrates on Glasgow but gives attention to other examples both in Britain and abroad The text attempts to encompass all the social and practical aspects of life in high flats by studying tenants views on the physical character of the flats and estates and by examining the success of tenants associations and extra mural classes designed to develop community life Practical problems are dealt with in chapters on facilities and services families children the elderly and the case for investment in staff The authors also compare multi storey flats with other types of household and discuss the reasons for tenants movement out of the estate Perhaps the most eloquent social comment on the shortcomings of high flat life is expressed in the lyrics of the Jeely Piece Song which is included in the Appendix
