The Speed Game Paul Westhead,2020-11 Paul Westhead

was teaching high school in his native Philadelphia when he was named La Salle University's men's basketball coach in 1970. By 1980 he was a Los Angeles Lakers assistant soon to be hired as head coach winning an NBA title with Hall of Fame center Kareem Abdul Jabbar and rookie guard Magic Johnson. After compiling a 112-50 record he was fired in November 1981. After a short stay as coach of the Chicago Bulls, Westhead reemerged in the mideighties as a coach at Loyola Marymount in California where he designed his highly unusual signature run and gun offense that came to be known as The system. The Speed Game offers a vibrant account of how Westhead helped develop a style of basketball that not only won at the highest levels but went on to influence basketball as it's played today. Known for implementing an up tempo quick possession high octane offense, Westhead is the only coach to have won championships in both the NBA and WNBA. But his long career can be defined by one simple question he's heard from journalists, fellow coaches, his wife and well himself: Why? Why did he insist on playing such a controversial style of basketball that could vary from brilliant to busted? Westhead speaks candidly here about the feathers he ruffled and about his own shortcomings as he takes readers from Philadelphia's West Catholic High where he couldn't make varsity to the birth of the Showtime Lakers and to the powerhouse he built nearly ten years later at Loyola where his team set records likely never to be approached. Westhead says he always found himself telling prospective bosses: My speed game is gonna knock your socks off. So will his story and what it could do to bring back a popular style of play.
