Employment and Training for America's Homeless ,1998 Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications ,1983 The Idea and Practice of Reading R. Joseph Ponniah,Sathyaraj Venkatesan,2018-05-08 This book addresses basic issues in language education and explores how reading with a focus on meaning contributes to the development of all aspects of language including vocabulary spelling grammar and syntax It departs from traditional methods and practices in language learning to investigate the potency of reading in improving language acquisition The traditional practice in language classes to teach language skills explicitly through acquiring forms and structures of language is often less than successful and teachers are gradually incorporating reading materials and practices into the curriculum This book provides important inputs to language teachers and educators on the need to include reading as an idea and as a practice into the curriculum Among other things it explores the benefits of incidental learning of language properties such as vocabulary syntax and grammar and gives adequate exposure to different types of reading strategies to promote reading among learners It also exploits the possible transfer of L1 reading strategies and capabilities to L2 reading for language acquisition In so doing this book hopes to promote autonomous learning among L2 learners and guide readers in alternative strategies to solve comprehension problems

Casanova,Mikhail Lebedev ,2018-09-14 The Volume II is entitled Neurostimulation and pharmacological approaches This volume describes augmentation approaches where improvements in brain functions are achieved by modulation of brain circuits with electrical or optical stimulation or pharmacological agents Activation of brain circuits with electrical currents is a conventional approach that includes such methods as i intracortical microstimulation ICMS ii transcranial direct current stimulation tDCS and iii transcranial magnetic stimulation TMS tDCS and TMS are often regarded as noninvasive methods Yet they may induce long lasting plastic changes in the brain This is why some authors consider the term noninvasive misleading when used to describe these and other techniques such as stimulation with transcranial lasers The volume further discusses the potential of neurostimulation as a research tool in the studies of perception cognition and behavior Additionally a notion is expressed that brain augmentation with stimulation cannot be described as a net zero sum proposition where brain resources are reallocated in such a way that gains in one function are balanced by costs elsewhere In recent years optogenetic methods have received an increased attention and several articles in Volume II cover different aspects of this technique While new optogenetic methods are being developed the classical electrical stimulation has already been utilized in many clinically relevant applications like the vestibular implant and tactile neuroprosthesis that utilizes ICMS As a peculiar usage of neurostimulation and pharmacological methods Volume II includes several articles on augmented memory Memory prostheses are a popular recent development in the stimulation based BMIs For example in a hippocampal memory prosthesis memory content is extracted from hippocampal activity using a multiple input multiple output non linear dynamical model As to the pharmacological approaches to augmenting memory and cognition the pros and cons of using nootropic drugs are discussed
