Grocery Store

People shop at the grocery store to purchase things they need to live. Customers buy food, beverages, cleaning products, and much more at the grocery store. Many important community helpers work at the grocery store. The butcher cuts and prepares meat for us to eat. The baker makes bread, cookies, and cakes. The cashier checks out customers who are ready to pay for their groceries. Other grocery store workers help clean the store, stock the shelves, bag groceries, and gather the shopping carts. The many different community helpers at the grocery store work hard to make sure we have the food and products we need in our everyday lives.

1) What are some things you can purchase at the grocery store?

2) What does the baker do at the grocery store?

3) What does the cashier do at the grocery store?

Reading in a Second Language offers a comprehensive survey of the phenomenon and process of reading in a second language with graduate and upper level undergraduate students in second language acquisition psycholinguistics and applied psychology as its primary audience. The book explores reading processes from a number of complementary standpoints integrating perspectives from fields such as first and second language reading, second language acquisition, linguistics, psycholinguistics, and cognitive neuroscience. The first half examines major factors in second language reading: types of scripts, the cognitive and neural substrates of reading, metalinguistic awareness, word recognition, language transfer, and lexical knowledge. The second part of the book discusses the social and educational contexts in which reading development occurs, including issues related to pedagogy, the use of technology in the classroom, reading disorders, and policy making. Reading in a Second Language provides students with a full, logically organized overview of the primary factors that shape reading development and processes in a second language.
