Exchanging the Past Bruce M. Knaft, 2002-08 Twenty years ago the Gebusi of the lowland Papua New Guinea rainforest had one of the highest homicide rates in the world Bruce M Knaft found then that the killings stemmed from violent scapegoating of suspected sorcerers But by the time he returned in 1998 homicide rates had plummeted and Gebusi had largely disavowed vengeance against sorcerers in favor of modern schools discos markets and Christianity In this book Knaft explores the Gebusi s encounter with modern institutions and highlights what their experience tells us more generally about the interaction between local peoples and global forces As desire for material goods grew among Gebusi Knaft shows that they became more accepting of and subordinated by Christian churches community schools and government officials in their attempt to benefit from them a process Knaft terms recessive agency But the Gebusi also respond actively to modernity creating new forms of feasting performance and music that meld traditional practices with Western ones all of which Knaft documents in this fascinating study
