Casarett,2010-01-12 Palliative care physician Dr David Casarett considers the medical options terminal patients face at the end of life in this thoughtful and illuminating guide to last acts What would you do if you had only a few days to live Or a few weeks or months What if a loved one were in this situation how could you help that person decide how to spend the time that remained Perhaps you lost a family member or dear friend to a terminal illness and were baffled by that person s choices How do you make sense of his or her last acts Dr David Casarett a palliative care physician and researcher specializes in the care of patients near the end of life Drawing on his years of experience and the stories of patients he has treated as well as his own research he explores the wide variety of ways in which people spend their last days Why do some people choose to be altruistic while others are vengeful Why do some leave a legacy while others prefer to celebrate and enjoy their time with family and friends Why do some fight and struggle to the last minute while others accept their fate and use their limited time to reconnect or reconcile The tremendous diversity of these last acts makes clear that there is no formula for dying well or choices that are right for everyone At the same time these stories reveal that some choices may be harmful to the dying person or those closest to him Last Acts helps dying patients and their families think about the possibilities that exist at the end of life so they may choose to spend their time in ways that help bring them peace of mind
