Working from Home Stick in Developing Economies? Mrs. Marina Conesa Martinez,Mr. Futoshi Narita,Mr. Chris Papageorgiou,2023-05-26 In developing economies a shift to working from home during the COVID 19 pandemic varies substantially An increase in teleworking days per week ranges from 0.7 to 17.6 percentage points across 10 developing countries covered by an online survey to about 500 respondents per country An estimated income discount associated with telework disappeared temporarily at the onset of the pandemic A calibrated model indicates that workers' preferences to telework may largely depend on their educational attainments Whether telework will sustain in these countries could depend on obstacles to telework particularly for workers with less education and a degree of economy wide externality

Vulnerability and Resilience During Emergency Remote Teaching: Voices of Part-Time University English Language Teachers in Japan Wendy M. Gough ,Bill Snyder,Chiyuki Yanase ,Colin Skeates,2024-07-05 This book explores the profound impact of Emergency Remote Teaching (ERT) on part-time university English language teachers in Japan during the COVID 19 pandemic Through a blend of quantitative data and heartfelt personal narratives the authors reveal the complex challenges faced by these educators ranging from job insecurity to the rapid adoption of new teaching technologies The initial chapters delve into the setup of the study followed by detailed analyses of survey and interview data that underscore the vulnerability and resilience these teachers exhibited As the pandemic forced a sudden shift to online education the book examines how these teachers navigated their altered professional landscapes balancing teaching responsibilities with personal and professional uncertainties Part three of the book focuses on the voices of the participants offering rich first person insights into their experiences during the first semester of ERT The narrative deepens with participant interviews and personal reflections that illustrate the profound psychological impacts and the innovative coping strategies developed in response to the crisis In concluding the book addresses the future of educational practices emphasizing the importance of institutional support and professional development in enhancing the resilience and effectiveness of part time faculty This comprehensive study not only highlights the immediate effects of the pandemic on educational practices but also serves as a crucial resource for understanding the ongoing needs and contributions of part time teachers in higher education
