casual observers may dismiss social media's impact social media has revolutionized the field of musical theatre since the early days of Web 2.0 with spaces such as AOL LiveJournal and Myspace. Now as social media continues to grow in relevance the nuanced ways in which digital platforms influence musical culture remain ripe for study. Social Media in Musical Theatre moves beyond viewing social media merely as a passing fad or a space free from critical engagement. Rather this volume takes a serious look at the critical role social media play in musicals thus challenging how social media users and musical theatre makers alike approach digital spaces. This book introduces the relationship between musical theatre and social media in the 21st century as well as methods to study social media's influence on musicals through three in depth case studies organized around marketing on YouTube fan engagement on Twitter and new musical development on TikTok.

Postliterary Attention Theory: Reading, Fragmentation, and Meaning in the Digital Age Shaikh Afnan Birahim, 2025-09-22 Postliterary Attention Theory Reading Fragmentation and Meaning in the Digital Age explores how our ability to read deeply has eroded in an era dominated by feeds fragments and dopamine driven design Blending literary history media theory and cognitive science Shaikh Afnan Birahim traces the journey from modernist experimentation to TikTok snippets showing how attention itself has become a cultural battleground This book is both diagnosis and manifesto an invitation to reclaim slow reading as an act of resistance and rediscover the joy intimacy and meaning that only literature can provide

The Digital Future of English Simone Murray, 2025-07-18 More than any other academic discipline literary studies is the creation of print culture How then can it thrive in the digital era Early 1990s predictions of the book s imminent demise presented a simplistic either or choice between the legacy of moribund print and triumphalist digital technology Yet we have grown to experience the two media as complexly interdependent and even complementary Clearly digital does not kill print But literary studies in the digital era cannot simply resume business as usual It is urgently necessary to reconsider the discipline s founding assumptions in light of digital technology The digital era prompts a rethinking of literary studies object of study as well as its methods theories audiences and pedagogical practices What counts as literature necessarily shifts in an age of proliferating born digital texts and do it yourself DIY online publication Where should literary studies sit institutionally and how might it graft contextually oriented social sciences methods onto its traditionally humanistic mode of textual analysis Why should literary study continue to marginalize emotional responses to texts when online communities bond via readerly affect Who is the audience for literary criticism in an age where expertise is routinely challenged yet communication with global book loving publics has never been technologically easier Finally how can we utilize digital tools to rejuvenate literary studies pedagogy and help English staff better connect with millennial age students Literary studies has been convulsed for decades by debates over electronic literature and more recently digitally aided distant reading But these discussions still mostly confine themselves to demarcating our proper object of study We need to think more expansively about digital technology s impact on the underpinning tenets of the discipline Literary Media Studies is pitched at fellow literary scholars book historians media theorists cultural sociologists digital humanists and those working at the interface of these converging disciplines It models constructive engagement with contemporary digital culture Most importantly it brings a burst of sorely needed optimism to the question of literary studies digital future
