critical race agenda in educational research It provides a starting point for how QuantCrit principles are employed by interdisciplinary contributions in race and quantitative studies The contributors to the book examine the legacy and genealogy of QuantCrit traditions across disciplines to uncover a rich lineage of methodological possibilities for disrupting racism in research They argue that quantitative approaches cannot be adopted for racial justice aims without an ontological reckoning that considers historical social political and economic power relations Only then can quantitative approach be re imagined and rectified This book will be of interest to researchers and advanced students of Education Sociology Social Work Politics and Racial and Ethnic Studies It was originally published as a special issue of the journal Race Ethnicity and Education Statistical Reference Index ,1994 Universities and Innovation Economies Peter Murphy,2016-02-24 Students drop out of universities in large numbers many graduate to jobs that do not require a degree and a large number learn little at university whilst graduate salaries have shrunk over time and student loan debt and default have grown University research achievements have declined while university administration has expanded massively The contemporary university is mired in auditing regulation waste and aimlessness and its contribution to serious social innovation has deteriorated markedly The miserable state of the universities reflects a larger social reality as bureaucratic capitalism has replaced creative capitalism Universities and Innovation Economies examines the rise and fall of the mass university and post industrial society considering how we might revitalize economic and intellectual creativity Looking to a much more inventive social and economic paradigm to drive long term growth the author argues for a smaller leaner more effective university model one capable of delivering a greater degree of high level discovery and creative power A potent critique of the post industrial mass university that urges a reimagination of universities as places of discovery and invention this book will appeal to readers interested in higher education creativity social theory the sociology of work and organisations political economy pedagogy and public policy Exporters!
