

READING COMPREHENSION

Read the short story and answer the questions!

Today is Mother's Day, but Jenny forgot to get her mother a present! Oh no! What is Jenny going to do? What can Jenny buy for her mother? She runs to her piggy bank to count her coins. Jenny only has 27 cents. "That is not enough to buy a present," said Jenny. "Maybe I can make her a present," thought Jenny! She ran to the craft closet. Jenny got paper, glue, glitter, and markers. She created the most beautiful poem and card for her mother. Jenny also picked white flowers and put them in a pot. Her mother said it was the best gift ever!

What would be a good title for the story?

1. What would be a good title for the story?

2. What is the problem in the story?

3. What gift does Jenny give to her mother?

4. What would you like to give your mother for Mother's Day?

McNamara, 2007 First Published in 2007 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Sex, Love, and Romance in the Mass Media Mary-Lou Galician, 2013-11-05 Volume offers a critical examination of the portrayals of relationships in the various media and debunks the myths perpetuated there For courses in media criticism media literacy mass communication interpersonal communication Critical Thinking About Sex, Love, and Romance in the Mass Media Mary-Lou Galician, Debra L. Merskin, 2007-07-10 Critical Thinking About Sex Love and Romance in the Mass Media investigates how romantic coupleship is represented in books magazines popular music movies television and the Internet within entertainment advertising and news information Manual of Applied Romance Linguistics Vera Mathieu, Julia Montemayor Gracia, Claudia Polzin-Haumann, 2025-06-16 This handbook provides a systematic overview firstly of the basic concepts and secondly of current research topics and trends in Applied Romance Linguistics from a theoretical methodological and empirical perspective It takes account of both traditional and innovative research approaches Following a general introduction to the field and its major topics methods and objectives the presentation is divided into four thematic sections methods and methodology language society and knowledge language acquisition and language education specialised communication and transfer The volume is geared towards researchers teachers and students working in the fields of linguistic and communication studies but also addresses the general public It aims to provide useful information for anyone dealing with problems of language and communication in their professional or private lives and illustrates career options for graduates of Romance Linguistics Reading the Adolescent Romance Amy Pattee, 2011-01-25 In this critical study Pattee examines the series content structure and reader base investigating an influential marketing and literary phenomenon and interrogating the intersecting influences of history audience positioning and readability that allowed Sweet Valley to flourish and continues to allow other teen series to enjoy popular acclaim Romance Languages and Linguistic Theory 11 Silvia Perpiñán, David Heap, Itziri Moreno-Villamar, Adriana Soto-Corominas, 2017-10-15 This collection brings together current research on a range of phenomena in French Spanish Occitan and Italian that will be of interest to scholars and students of Romance and general linguistics The volume includes 12 peer reviewed articles first presented at the 44th Linguistic Symposium on Romance Languages LSRL divided into three sections on syntax semantics morphosyntax and bilingualism and language acquisition Reading the Romance Janice A. Radway, 2009-11-18 Originally published in 1984 Reading the Romance challenges popular and often demeaning myths about why romantic fiction one of publishing's most lucrative categories captivates millions of women readers Among those who have disparaged romance reading are feminists literary critics and theorists of mass culture They claim that romances enforce the woman reader's dependence on men and acceptance of the repressive ideology purveyed by popular culture Radway questions such claims arguing that critical attention must shift from the text itself taken in isolation to the complex social event of reading She examines that event from the complicated business of publishing and distribution to the individual reader's engagement with the text Radway's provocative approach combines reader response criticism with anthropology and feminist psychology Asking readers themselves to explore their reading motives habits and rewards she conducted interviews in a midwestern town with forty two romance readers whom she met through Dorothy Evans a chain bookstore employee who has earned a reputation as an expert on romantic fiction Evans defends her customers choice of entertainment reading romances she tells Radway is no more harmful than watching sports on television We read books so we won't cry is the poignant explanation one woman offers for her reading habit Indeed Radway found that while the women she studied devote themselves to nurturing their families these wives and mothers receive insufficient devotion or nurturance in return In romances the women find not only escape from the demanding and often tiresome routines of their lives but also a hero who supplies the tenderness and admiring attention that they have learned not to expect The heroines admired by Radway's group defy the expected stereotypes they are strong independent and intelligent That such characters often find themselves to be victims of male aggression and almost always resign themselves to accepting conventional roles in life has less to do Radway argues with the women readers fantasies and choices than with their need to deal with a fear of masculine dominance These romance readers resent not only the limited choices in their own lives but the patronizing attitude that men especially express toward their reading tastes In fact women read romances both to protest and to escape temporarily the narrowly defined role prescribed for them by a patriarchal culture Paradoxically the books that they read make conventional roles for women seem desirable It is this complex relationship between culture text and woman reader that Radway urges feminists to address Romance readers she argues should be encouraged to deliver their protests in the arena of actual social relations rather than to act them out in the solitude of the imagination In a new introduction Janice Radway places the book within the context of current scholarship and offers both an explanation and critique of the study's limitations

Romance Syntax, Semantics and L2 Acquisition Joaquim Camps, Caroline R. Wiltshire, 2001 This volume contains a selection of refereed and revised papers originally presented at the 30th Linguistic Symposium on Romance Languages representing the areas of syntax semantics their interfaces and second language acquisition The topics addressed include movement both wh and head movement control issues of second language acquisition related to the Determiner Phrase the effect of word order and syntactic simplification in second language acquisition adverbials syntactic constraints on access to lexical structure a semantic characterization of the subjunctive in Spanish and impersonal constructions and impersonal reflexive pronouns The papers in this volume not only discuss issues related to most of the major Romance languages French Italian Portuguese Rumanian and Spanish and a Portuguese Creole but also include comparisons with languages from other families Marathi Bulgarian Polish and Slovenian This collection of papers illustrates the richness in the field of Romance linguistics and the value of cross linguistic research and multi modular approaches

Romance Linguistics 2008 Karlos Arregi, Zsuzsanna

Fagyal, Silvina A. Romancing the Self in Early Modern Englishwomen's Life Writing Julie A. Eckerle, 2016-04-01 Juxtaposing life writing and romance this study offers the first book length exploration of the dynamic and complex relationship between the two genres In so doing it operates at the intersection of several recent trends interest in women's contributions to autobiography greater awareness of the diversity and flexibility of auto biographical forms in the early modern period and the use of manuscripts and other material evidence to trace literacy practices Through analysis of a wide variety of life writings by early modern Englishwomen including Elizabeth Delaval Dorothy Calthorpe Ann Fanshawe and Anne Halkett Julie A Eckerle demonstrates that these women were not only familiar with the controversial romance genre but also deeply influenced by it Romance she argues with its unending tales of unsatisfying love spoke to something in women's experience offered a model by which they could recount their own disappointments in a world where arranged marriage and often loveless matches ruled the day and exerted a powerful pervasive pressure on their textual self formations Romancing the Self in Early Modern Englishwomen's Life Writing documents a vibrant secular form of auto biographical writing that coexisted alongside numerous spiritual forms providing a much more nuanced and complete understanding of sixteenth and seventeenth century women's reading and writing literacies
