4D Hyperlocal Lucy Bullivant, 2017-03-23 4D Hyperlocal: A Cultural Tool Kit for the Open Source City. The evolution of digital tools is revolutionising urban design, planning, and community engagement. This is enabling a new hyperlocal mode of design, made possible by geolocation technologies and GPS-enabled mobile devices that support connectivity through open source applications. Real-time analysis of environments and individuals' input and feedback bring a new immediacy and responsiveness. Established linear design methods are being replaced by adaptable mapping processes, real-time data streams, and experiential means fostering more dynamic spatial analysis and public feedback. This shifts the emphasis in urban design from the creation of objects and spaces to collaboration with users and from centralised to distributed participatory systems. Hyperlocal tools foster dynamic relational spatial analysis, making their deployment in urban and rural contexts challenged by transformation, particularly significant. How can hyperlocal methods, solutions, including enterprise-driven uses of technology for bioclimatic design, and contexts influence each other and support the evolution of participatory architectural design? What issues, for example, arise from using real-time data to test scenarios and shape environments through 3D digital visualisation and simulation methods? What are the advantages of using GIS with its integrative and visualising capacities and relational flexibility, definition of scale with GPS for multi-scalar mapping? Move Slowly and Build Bridges Robert W. Gehl, 2025 Move Slowly and Build Bridges tells the story of activists, software developers, artists, and everyday people who have built the fediverse, a large noncentralized alternative social media system. In contrast to big tech corporations like Meta, TikTok, or X, the fediverse is comprised of thousands of small independent communities who use a powerful internet protocol to communicate with one another. These small communities can govern themselves and moderate content at the human scale in stark contrast to the global and advertiser friendly interests of Meta or X The Mastodon network is perhaps the most notable and successful platform in the fediverse Founded in 2016 Mastodon has positioned itself as an alternative to Twitter one that can be completely under the control of its members from it to its daily operations to its underlying software Making a noncentralized ethically run social media system is no easy task The people building the fediverse have faced burnout bigotry angry debates and death threats And they face constant nagging doubts can we really do this Can noncentralized social media survive Can we all of us have our own social media In this thoroughly researched book Robert W Gehl argues that the answer is yes but it won't be easy
