component of everyday religion in the lives of Malaysian Christians at individual institutional and national levels It examines the ways in which online Christian expressions are increasingly integrated into the everyday religious routines of Christians for the development of their personal identities and inter religious interactions This book also shows how the spiritual authority of church pastors can be both challenged and reinforced through the creative use of online tools It addresses some of the creative ways in which Christians utilise the Internet to engage with national socio political issues within the context of restrictive and controlled mainstream media as well as the ongoing discourse with Islam in the country Through a selection of case studies this book shows that while the Internet may be free the users of the Internet are not necessarily so While the Internet has provided Malaysian Christians with new tools to experience their faith in new ways several aspects of old offline socio cultural habits persist online These in turn lead to a robust and growing environment of Internet Christianity in Malaysia This timely book will be of interest to scholars in religious studies media and communications and cultural studies in Southeast Asia

Power Games Hah Foong Lian, 2016-05-03 The unprecedented results of the 2008 national elections took many Malaysians by surprise The component parties of the ruling coalition suffered huge losses while the opposition was victorious in several states Many media scholars and political pundits including politicians pointed to the online platform as a democratic tool that had increased support for the opposition In the 2013 election the ruling party turned its spotlight on new media to try to regain voter support In order to obtain a better understanding of the much touted democratizing effects of the online media this book employs an alternative lens to examine the use of new media at the intersection of social and political realities It explores the ways individual political bloggers Facebookers and Twitterers used cyberspace to battle for voter support in the 2008 and 2013 national elections It examines the cultural practices and the social and political affiliation and aims of individual actors as well as the social ties that subsequently emerged from the use of the online media This research employs a political economy approach to the media Habermas's notion of the public sphere and the social determinism perspective in order to understand the extent to which online media can enrich political life and bring about new ways of campaigning

Serving Library Users from Asia

John Hickok, 2019-06-12 Asian populations are among some of the fastest growing cultural groups in the US While books on serving other target groups in libraries have been published e.g. disabled Latino seniors etc. few books on serving library users of Asian heritage have been written. Thus the timely need for this book. Rather than a generalized overview of Asians as a whole, this book has 24 separate chapters each on 24 specific Asian countries/cultures of East Southeast and South Asia with a wealth of resources for understanding interacting with/outreaching to and serving library users of each culture. Resources include cultural guides both print and online, language helps with sample library vocabulary, Asian booksellers nationwide, cultural groups, professional literature and more. Resources and suggestions are given for all three types of libraries: public, school and academic, making this book valuable for all librarians. The demographics of each Asian culture, numbers and distribution, plus history of immigration and international student enrollment is also featured. As a bonus, each chapter spotlights a US public school and academic library providing model outreach to Asian library users. Additionally, this book provides a detailed description and analysis of libraries in each of the 24 Asian countries. The history, development, facilities, conditions, technology, classification systems and more of public school and academic libraries are all discussed with detailed documentation. Country conditions influencing libraries and library use are also described: literacy levels, reading cultures, languages and writing systems, educational systems and more. Based on the author's 15 years of research and travels to Asia, this work is a must-have for all librarians.

Cosmopolitan Intimacies Adil Johan, 2018-05-31. The golden age of Malay film in the 1950s and 1960s was the product of a musical and cultural cosmopolitanism in the service of a nation-making process based on ideas of Malay ethnonationalism, initially fluid, increasingly homogenised over time. The commercial films of the period, and in particular their film music from national cultural icons P. Ramlee and Zubir Said, remain important reference points for Malaysia and Singapore to this day. This is the first in-depth study of the film music of the period. It brings together ethnomusicological and cultural studies perspectives. Written in an engaging manner, thoroughly illustrated and incorporating musical scores, the book will appeal to dedicated film fans, musicians, composers and film makers interested in Southeast Asia and the Malay world. But equally, the conceptual framework will be of interest to a broad range of scholars of Southeast Asia as it brings together ideas of cosmopolitanism and cultural intimacy to narrate a history of nation-making in the region. Islam and
