Waiting for My Happily Ever After Andrew G. Schneider, 2015-11-12 Fairytales are real and they walk among us I should know I'm one of them Beauty mistress of the hundred year nap the 50 foot ponytail and the glass slipper two step at your service Chances are you've seen me slinging lattes at the Tale's End Café a favorite safe house for us fairy folk since the invention of the camera since we became inspiration in a can to be bartered and traded by authors on the black market There should be more to it than that but it turns out my ever after is only happy enough I don't get out much my job's only perk is all the free coffee in the world and the charm has rubbed off my handsome and dashing prince But I have a plan to turn things around Tonight is our anniversary me and the prince Tonight we have a date that's gonna rekindle the old flame Tonight is going to be page 1 of our new life 200 years ago the invention of the camera allowed fairy folk to be trapped packaged and sold as bottled creativity Folk quickly abandoned their magic castles and secret lairs for cities hoping to blend into the mass of humanity without losing who they are what makes them special Today relations between mortals and Folk have settled into a delicate detente of hide and seek catch as catch can Authors grow fat from Folk labor and refuge becomes harder to find as technology nibbles at the edges of the world's mystery It is a status quo that will end with the disappearance of dreams when the last Folk vanishes in a flash That is until an accident between Beauty an empty camera and a too pink hubcap margarita changes everything

To make matters worse, her fiancé Todd has always been jealous of their friendship, and he's determined it won't be reignited by their close proximity. But when Violet comes up with an inspired project to help establish Connor's business, she's faced with either risking her relationship with Todd or watching all Connor's dreams shatter. Nae-Née Stephanie C. Fox, 2014-01-18

Nae Née is a dystopian science fiction story. It is a cautionary tale of a loss of liberty along with our ecosystem. It takes place in the present. Nae Née posits a world not unlike our own as it confronts the major taboo of our time: the conflict between human overpopulation and the human desire to pass on one's DNA and culture and to rest assured that the next generation will care for the previous one and continue all that matters to it. Our planet's ecosystem is being stressed past capacity to the brink of collapse due to biodiversity loss, rising sea levels, floods, droughts, overdependence on fossil fuels, and the climate changes that drive all that. In short, the human species is in dire trouble due to overpopulation of its own. No one seems remotely inclined to sacrifice any comfort or control over their habits in order to save the environment and ultimately their own future existence, happiness, or sense of purpose. But there is a significant difference: nanite technology has advanced sufficiently to be of actual practical use to physicians and scientists. Nae Née is a safe, reliable, user-friendly form of birth control. It is a microscopic device made of nanites (little robots). It contains a life-time supply of super-concentrated RU486, which the device releases whenever it detects a rise in hormones that indicates a fertilized embryo is about to implant itself. All that the inventors, a husband and wife team, wanted was a convenient device that would prevent pregnancy every time without constantly pumping a woman's body full of artificial hormones. Its name literally translates as "not born" and was chosen by Avril, the wife, to reflect her husband's Scottish background and her own French ancestry. The story is told from Avril's point of view, a woman with Asperger's and a professor of women's medical history. The world's leaders have decided to make it the duty of every human being to participate in a bold new world policy, and they have drafted a treaty at the United Nations, and every nation has agreed to sign onto it. This is done on a date that doom-sayers have anticipated with predictions of various and often unrelated dire consequences. December 21, 2012. Under the terms of the treaty, all women must have a government-registered Nae Née.
