through to today's thinkers can offer moral and imaginative guidance in the face of catastrophe. The utopian tradition which has been critical of conspicuous consumption and luxurious indulgence might light a path to a society that emphasizes equality, sociability and sustainability. Gregory Claeys unfolds his argument through a wide ranging consideration of utopian literature, social theory and intentional communities. He defends a realist definition of utopia focusing on ideas of sociability and belonging as central to utopian narratives. He surveys the development of these themes during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries before examining twentieth and twenty first century debates about alternatives to consumerism. Claeys contends that the current global warming limit of 1.5°C/2.7°F will result in cataclysm if there is no further reduction in the cap. In response he offers a radical Green New Deal program which combines ideas from the theory of sociability with proposals to withdraw from fossil fuels and cease reliance on unsustainable commodities. An urgent and comprehensive search for antidotes to our planet's destruction. Utopianism for a Dying Planet asks for a revival of utopian ideas not as an escape from reality but as a powerful means of changing it.
