For students interested in pursuing a degree in engineering

The Engineering Education Program (ESEP) is a two-year program designed to prepare students for a career in engineering. The program includes a combination of classroom instruction and hands-on experience in the laboratory. Students will learn the fundamentals of engineering and develop the skills necessary to solve complex problems. The program is designed to be flexible, allowing students to complete their degree in as little as two years or as long as four years, depending on their course load and any internships or research opportunities they may pursue.

- 1. Engineering Fundamentals - This course covers the basic principles of engineering, including mechanics, thermodynamics, and electrical circuits. It is the first of four courses in the ESEP program.
 - 2. Engineering Design - This course focuses on the design process, from concept development to the final product. Students will learn how to use CAD software and how to create prototypes.
 - 3. Engineering Materials - This course explores the properties of different materials and how they are used in engineering applications. Students will learn about the selection of materials for different environments and loads.
 - 4. Engineering Systems - This course covers the integration of different engineering disciplines to create a complete system. Students will learn how to analyze and design complex systems.
- The ESEP program is designed to be a rigorous and challenging experience for students. It provides a strong foundation in engineering and prepares students for the demands of a career in the field. The program is also designed to be flexible, allowing students to tailor their education to their interests and career goals.
