Computation Works Xavier De Kestelier, Brady Peters, 2013-04-15 Architects are now taking advantage of the computer in new ways through experimentation with algorithmic and simulation driven design Computation Works The Building of Algorithmic Thought focuses on this emerging theme in design practice showcasing built and soon to be built projects and providing a state of the art in computational design Computational design is considered to be first a design tool and second a series of instruments that can be applied in the creation of architecture It allows architects to incorporate performance analysis and knowledge about material tectonics and the parameters of production machinery Moving towards a new role as hybrid practitioners architects are taking concepts from other disciplines and customising architectural and other CAD software In addition to the discussion of built projects a further series of texts examines new custom software instruments New digital tools provide new modes of representation new methods of evaluation and new techniques for design exploration The development of new computational tools can create more responsive designs allowing architects to explore new design options and to analyse architectural decisions during the design process This issue raises important questions such as How is computation changing the way architects design Are the design tools and methods related to the result What is computational design in the context of architectural practice and How is computation changing the processes of design and construction

Building Performance Simulation for Design and Operation Jan L.M. Hensen, Roberto Lamberts, 2019-04-24 When used appropriately building performance simulation has the potential to reduce the environmental impact of the built environment to improve indoor quality and productivity as well as to facilitate future innovation and technological progress in construction Since publication of the first edition of Building Performance Simulation for Design and Operation the discussion has shifted from a focus on software features to a new agenda which centres on the effectiveness of building performance simulation in building life cycle processes This new edition provides a unique and comprehensive overview of building performance simulation for the complete building life cycle from conception to demolition and from a single building to district level It contains new chapters on building information modelling occupant behaviour modelling urban physics modelling urban building energy modelling and renewable energy systems modelling This new edition keeps the same chapter structure throughout including learning objectives chapter summaries and assignments Moreover the book Provides unique insights into the techniques of building performance modelling and simulation and their application to performance based design and operation of buildings and the systems which service them Provides readers with the essential concepts of computational support of performance based design and operation Provides examples of how to use building simulation techniques for practical design management and operation their limitations and future direction It is primarily intended for building and systems designers and operators and postgraduate architectural environmental or mechanical engineering students

Non-Plan: Essays on Freedom, Participation and Change in Modern Architecture and Urbanism Jonathan Hughes, Simon Sadler, 2013-01-11 Non Plan explores ways of involving people in the design of their environments a goal which transgresses political categories of right and left Attempts to circumvent planning bureaucracy and architectural inertia have ranged from free market enterprise zones to self build housing and from squatting to sophisticated technologies of prefabrication Yet all have shared in a desire to let people shape the built environment they want to live and work in How can buildings better reflect the needs of their inhabitants How can cities better facilitate the work and recreation of their many populaces Modernism had promised a functionalist approach to resolving the architectural needs of the twentieth century yet the design of cities and buildings often appears to confound the needs of those who use them their design and layout being highly regulated by restrictive legislation planning controls and bureaucracy Non Plan considers the theoretical and conceptual frameworks within which architecture and urbanism have sought to challenge entrenched boundaries of control focusing on the architectural history of the post war period to the present day This provocative book will be of interest to architects planners and students of architecture design town planning and architectural history Its contributors include architects critics and historians including many whose work helped shape the Non Plan debate during the period List of contributors Cedric Price Benjamin Franks Elizabeth Lebas Eleonore Kofman Ben Highmore Yona Friedman Paul Barker Clara Greed Barry Curtis Colin Ward Ian Horton John Beck Chinedu Umenyilora and Malcolm Miles
