Nice Light Radiant History Creation Quantum:

Posthuman Spiritualities in Contemporary Performance Silvia Battista, 2018-06-19 This book provides an interpretative analysis of the notion of spirituality through the lens of contemporary performance and posthuman theories. The book examines five performance artworks: The Artist is Present 2010 by Marina Abramovi; The Deer Shelter Skyscape 2007 by James Turrell; CAT 1998 by Ansuman Biswas; Journey to the Lower World by Marcus Coates 2004; and the work with pollen by Wolfgang Laib. Through the analysis of these works, the notion of spirituality is grounded in materiality and embodiment, allowing the conceptual juxtaposition of spirit and matter to introduce the paradoxical as the guiding thread of the narrative of the book. Here, the human is interrogated and negotiated with within a plurality of other living organisms, intangible existences, and micro and macrocosmic ecologies. Silence, meditation, shamanic journeys, reciprocal gazing, restraint, and contemplation are analyzed as technologies used to manipulate perception and adventure into the multilayered condition of matter.

Not White Enough Muriel J Morris, 2023-06-26 She's sixteen, shunned, isolated, and possibly pregnant. This is Marie, who thought she had the world by the tail a few months ago. She had married a handsome professional European man who adored her. She is Eurasian, but her European status in Indonesia had been earned through careful education, European dress, and mastery of a European language, Dutch. But she finds herself in dank grey Manchester, where her husband's family won't accept her and never really will. She's half a world away from the blue skies, tropical fruits, colourful fabrics, familiar languages, and house full of servants that she grew up with. Her husband, Walter Woodbury, is on a mission to patent his invention, which is why they've returned to England, a country which will be civilly hostile to Marie and her eight children, so that when her husband dies within a few years, seven of the eight, and Marie herself, will have fled England, which deems them Not White Enough. You probably don't know who Walter Bentley Woodbury is, but you should. He's the reason this book is in your hands. Woodbury invented and patented the first photographic printing press, so that thousands of copies could be made from a single negative, enough for a book or an illustrated magazine. But he's unknown. In fact, he died in so much debt that a collection had to be taken for his funeral, and he left his wife and eight children. 246 His obscurity is due to two factors. One is Woodbury himself: his mercurial mind caromed on to the next project, whether it was an aerial observation camera for the military or a train signal that used sound for foggy weather or paper-backed film, before he had secured the business side of his existing inventions. The second was that he and his family were ostracized because Marie Woodbury, his Eurasian wife, was visibly biracial, and so were most of their children. The scientific community accepted Woodbury as an inventor, but the wider community never accepted his wife and family, virtually all of whom left England after Woodbury's tragic death. This book tells a story that needs telling in our modern world. Not White Enough is largely dedicated to Woodbury's career and travels, but the author also sheds some light, sometimes speculative, on his wife, their eight children, and other little-known Woodbury family members in an effort to piece together the puzzle of her family's fascinating and often tragic past. Light as

Experience and Imagination from Medieval to Modern Times David S. Herrstrom, 2022-11-21 In Light as Experience and Imagination from Medieval to Modern Times David S. Herrstrom synthesizes and interprets the experience of light as revealed in a wide range of art and literature from medieval to modern times. The true subject of the book is making sense of the individual's relationship with light rather than the investigation of light's essential nature while telling the story of light seducing individuals from the Middle Ages to our modern times. Consequently it is not concerned with the progress of scientific inquiries into the physical properties and behavior of light optical science but rather with subjective reactions as reflected in art architecture and literature. Instead of its evolution this book celebrates the complexity of our relation to light's character. No individual experience of light being truer than any other. Light as Experience and Imagination from Paleolithic to Roman Times David S. Herrstrom, 2017-09-26 This book is an interdisciplinary synthesis and interpretation about the experience of light as revealed in a wide range of art and literature from Paleolithic to Roman times. Humanistic in spirit and in its handling of facts it marshals a substantial body of scholarship to develop an explication of light as a central even dramatic reality of human existence and experience in diverse cultural settings. David S. Herrstrom underscores our intimacy with light not only its constant presence in our life but its insinuating character. Focusing on our encounters with light and ways of making sense of these this book is concerned with the personal and cultural impact of light exploring our resistance to and acceptance of light. Its approach is unique. The book's true subject is the individual's relationship with light rather than the investigation of light's essential nature. It tells the story of light seducing individuals down through the ages. Consequently it is not concerned with the progress of scientific inquiries into the physical properties and behavior of light optical science but rather with subjective reactions to it as reflected in art Paleolithic through Roman architecture Egyptian Grecian Roman mythology and religion Paleolithic Egyptian and literature e.g. Akhenaten Plato Aeschylus Lucretius John the Evangelist Plotinus and Augustine. This book celebrates the complexity of our relation to light's character. No individual experience of light is truer than any other none improves on any previous experience of light's tidal pull on us. And the wondrous variety of these encounters has yielded a richly layered tapestry of human experience. By its broad scope and interdisciplinary approach this pioneering book is without precedent.
