Digitalization has transformed the discourse of architecture that discourse is now defined by a wealth of new terms and concepts that previously either had no meaning or had different meanings in the context of architectural theory and design. Its concepts and strategies are increasingly shaped by influences emerging at the intersection with scientific and cultural notions from modern information technology. The series Context Architecture seeks to take a critical selection of concepts that play a vital role in the current discourse and put them up for discussion. When Vitruvius described the architect as a uomo universale he gave rise to the architect's conception of him or herself as a generalist who shapes a complex reality. The architectural concept of complexity however failed to keep pace with industrial and social reality becoming instead an increasingly formal and superficial notion that could ultimately be applied to almost anything. Against it architectural modernism set the watchword of simplification: less is more. In this situation Robert Venturi reintroduced the notion of complexity into architectural discourse; his goal was not just to restore the complexity of architectonic forms and their history but also to explore the concrete reality of the existing built environment. Today it is complexity studies with their starting point in physics that define the current approach to the concept of complexity. They have established a new connection between the natural sciences and information technology and have thus become a central premise of computer-based approaches to design.

Integrated Buildings Leonard R. Bachman, 2002-12-23. An anatomical study of building systems integration with guidelines for practical applications. Through a systems approach to buildings. Integrated Buildings: The Systems Basis of Architecture details the practice of integration to bridge the gap between the design intentions and technical demands of building projects. Analytic methods are introduced that illustrate the value, benefit and application of systems integration as well as guidelines for selecting technical systems in the conceptual schematic and design development stages of projects. Landmark structures such as Eero Saarinen's John Deere Headquarters, Renzo Piano's Kansai International Airport, Glenn Murcutt's Magney House and Richard Rogers's Lloyd's of London headquarters are presented as part of an extensive collection of case studies organized into seven categories: Laboratories, Offices, Pavilions, Green Architecture, High Tech Architecture, Airport Terminals, Residential Architecture. Advanced material is provided on methods of integration including an overview of integration topics, the systems basis of architecture and the integration potential of various building systems. An expanded case study of Ibsen Nelsen's design for the Pacific Museum of Flight is used to demonstrate case study methods for tracing integration through any work of architecture. Visually enhanced with more than 300 illustrations, diagrams and photographs. Integrated Buildings: The Systems Basis of Architecture is a valuable reference guide for architecture and civil engineering students as well as architects, engineers and other professionals in the construction industry.

Architecture For Science Michael J. Crosbie, 2004. Features facilities for research and education in medicine, marine biology, biochemistry, physics, general science and technology and others. The Best of News Design 36th Edition. Society for News Design, 2015-12-15. The Best of News Design 36th Edition presents the winning entries from the Society for

News Design's 2015 competition. Insightful commentary on what made each piece a standout is included. The American Architect and Building News, 1890. Material Architecture John Fernandez, 2006. Composed of a series of essays, this book deals with the broad issues affecting the nature of architectural materials and provides a focused review of the state of the art materials. It also provides designers with the tools they need to evaluate and select from the thousands of different materials that are available to them. The book is organized into three sections. Time looks at how the materials used in architectural design have changed over the years, showing how we have come to use the materials we do in contemporary design. Materials covers all five material families: metals, polymers, ceramics, composites, and natural materials, giving in-depth information on their properties, behavior, origins, and uses in design. It also introduces a review of the cutting-edge research for each family. Systems outlines the technical design-oriented research that uncovers how new architectural assemblies can be designed and engineered. All of this practical advice is given along with many real case examples illustrating how this knowledge and information has been and can be used in architectural design. Structure and Architecture Angus J Macdonald, 2007-06-07. Structure and Architecture is an essential textbook for students and practitioners of architecture and structural engineering. MacDonald explains the basic principles of structure and describes the ranges of structure types in current use. Furthermore, the book links these topics directly with the activity of architectural design and criticism. An update of the first edition, Structure and Architecture 2nd includes a revised opening chapter and a new section that discusses prominent buildings constructed since the last edition was published in 1994. Angus MacDonald deals with structures holistically, relating detailed topics back to the whole structure and building. He aims to answer the questions: What are architectural structures? How does one define the difference between the structure of a building and all of the other components and elements of which it consists? What are the requirements of structures? What is involved in their design? An understanding of the concepts involved in answering these questions and an appreciation of how the structure of a building functions enhances the ability of an individual to appreciate its architectural quality. This book is unique in that it discusses the structural component of architectural design in the context of visual and stylistic issues. Cornell University Register and Catalogue Cornell University, 1875. The Best of News Design 34th Edition Society for News Design, 2013-11. The Best of News Design 34th Edition, the latest edition in Rockport's highly respected series, presents the winning entries from the Society for News Design's 2013 competition. Bold, full-color layouts feature the best of the best in news features, portfolios, visuals, and more, and each entry is accompanied by insightful commentary on the elements that made the piece a standout winner. Every industry professional aspires to one day see his or her work in this book. The Handbook of Fashion Studies Sandy Black, Amy de la Haye, Joanne Entwistle, Regina Root, Agnès Rocamora, Helen Thomas, 2014-01-02. The Handbook of Fashion Studies identifies an innovative spectrum of thematic approaches, key strands, and interdisciplinary concepts that continue to push forward the boundaries of fashion studies. The book is divided into seven sections: Fashion Identity and

Difference Spaces of Fashion Fashion and Materiality Fashion Agency and Policy Science Technology and New fashion Fashion and Time and Sustainable Fashion in a Globalised world Each section consists of approximately four essays authored by established researchers in the field from the UK USA Netherlands Sweden Canada and Australia The essays are written by international subject specialists who each engage with their section s theme in the light of their own discipline and provide clear case studies to further knowledge on fashion This consistency provides clarity and permits comparative analysis The handbook will be essential reading for students of fashion as well as professionals in the industry

Design Methodology and Relationships with Science Marc J de Vries,Nigel Cross,D.P. Grant,1993-03-31 Many business corporations are faced with the challenge of bringing together quite different types of knowledge in design processes knowledge of different disciplines in the natural and engineering sciences knowledge of markets and market trends knowledge of political and juridical affairs This also means a challenge for design methodology as the academic discipline that studies design processes and methods The aim of the NATO ARW of which this book is the report was to bring together colleagues from different academic fields to discuss this increasing multidisciplinary in the relationship between design and sciences This multidisciplinary made the conference a special event At a certain moment one of the participants exclaimed This is not a traditional design methodology conference Throughout the conference it was evident that there was a need to develop a common language and understanding to enable the exchange of different perspectives on design and its relationship with science The contributions that have been included in this book show these different perspectives the philosophical the historical the engineering perspective and the practical designer s experience

Urban Experience and Design Justin B. Hollander,Ann Sussman,2020-10-15 Embracing a biological and evolutionary perspective to explain the human experience of place Urban Experience and Design explores how cognitive science and biometric tools provide an evidence based foundation for architecture and planning Aiming to promote the creation of a healthier and happier public realm this book describes how unconscious responses to stimuli outside our conscious awareness direct our experience of the built environment and govern human behavior in our surroundings This collection contains 15 chapters including contributions from researchers in the US the UK the Netherlands France and Iran Addressing topics such as the impact of eye tracking analysis and seeing beauty and empathy within buildings Urban Experience and Design encourages us to reframe our understanding of design including the narrative of how modern architecture and planning came to be in the first place This volume invites students academics and scholars to see how cognitive science and biometric findings give us remarkable 21st century metrics for evaluating and improving designs even before they are built

Wellness Architecture and Urban Design Phillip James Tabb,Lahra Tatriele,2024-09-06 Wellness is a contemporary concept with deep ancient roots promoting preventative and holistic activities lifestyle choices and salient architecture and urban design practices Wellness Architecture and Urban Design presents definitions an analysis of the wellness literature and a brief history of the wellness movement Specific planning and
