Fictionalizing Anthropology Stuart J. McLean, 2017-11-22 What might become of anthropology if it were to suspend its sometime claims to be a social science

What if it were to turn instead to exploring its affinities with art and literature as a mode of engaged creative practice carried forward in a world heterogeneously composed of humans and other than humans Stuart McLean claims that anthropology stands to learn most from art and literature not as evidence to support explanations based on an appeal to social context or history but as modes of engagement with the materiality of expressive media including language that always retain the capacity to disrupt or exceed the human projects enacted through them At once comparative in scope and ethnographically informed Fictionalizing Anthropology draws on an eclectic range of sources including ancient Mesopotamian myth Norse saga literature Hesiod Lucretius Joyce Artaud and Lispector as well as film multimedia and performance art along with the concept of fabulation the making of fictions capable of intervening in and transforming reality developed in the writings of Bergson and Deleuze Sharing with proponents of anthropology s recent ontological turn McLean insists that experiments with language and form are a performative means of exploring alternative possibilities of collective existence new ways of being human and other than human and that such experiments must therefore be indispensable to anthropology s engagement with the contemporary world

Neudenken Von Kultur und Kulturanalyse Joaquim Braga, Christian Möckel, 2013 The texts in this collection are revised versions of presentations given at the Coimbra International Conference on the Semantics of Culture Why Culture held on November 24 25 2011 Their common theme is the idea that the phenomenon of culture cannot be reduced to a substantialist vision of the diversity of manifestations of society and human beings However if one were to accept the concept of culture as a starting point for observing these manifestations then it should also be adopted as a starting point for critical questioning that is for problematizing The texts in this volume contribute to this philosophical problematization by pointing out each with its own perspective of analysis articulations of the phenomenon of culture as a theoretical object and as a thematic object
