Topic: Art | Words: 2811 | Pages: 10

Introduction

Twelve Angry Men is a provoking film highlighting the power of negotiation and persuasion. The movie revolves around a jury tasked with determining a young man's destiny who allegedly murdered his father (Orion-Nova, 1957). The twelve jurors, each with unique personalities, values, and attitudes, must navigate their biases and emotions to reach a unanimous decision. Various negotiation tactics are seen in the play through their debates, from questioning and active listening to stereotyping and intimidation.

In this paper, four scenes from the movie will be analyzed, and the negotiation tactics employed by the characters in those scenes will be explored. In the first scene, Juror 8 uses questioning as a persuasion tactic to challenge the other jurors' assumptions and beliefs. In the second scene, Juror 3 uses intimidation to convince the other jurors of his point of view. In the third scene, Juror 10 employs stereotyping to strengthen his argument. Finally, in the fourth scene, Juror 9 listens actively to Juror 4, creating an atmosphere of trust and collaboration. The negotiation tactics used by the jurors in Twelve Angry Men demonstrate the power of effective communication in achieving consensus. Still, they also reveal the limitations of aggressive and discriminatory tactics in fostering productive dialogue.
