Dennis Carlyle Darling,2024-02-16 Honorable Mention The International Photography Awards 2024 Book Category Documentation through photographs and interviews of those who survived the unique Nazi ghetto camp located at Terez n Czech Republic Dennis Carlyle Darling has photographed and interviewed hundreds of Holocaust survivors who spent time at the German transit camp and ghetto at Terez n a former eighteenth century military garrison located north of Prague Many of the prisoners were kept there until they could be transported to Auschwitz or other camps but unlike German captives elsewhere they were allowed to participate in creative activities that the Nazis used for propaganda purposes to show the world how well they were treating Jews Although it was not classified as a death camp more than 33 000 prisoners died at Terez n from hunger disease and mistreatment In Borrowed Time Darling reveals Terez n as a place of painful contradictions through striking and intimate portraits that retrace time and place with his subjects the last remnants of those who survived the experience Returning to sites of painful memories with his interview subjects to photograph them Darling respectfully depicts these survivors and tells their stories Operation Pied Piper Niko Gärtner,2012-11-01 When war came the authorities in London and Berlin operated evacuation schemes that sent children into billets and camps in rural reception areas The children s exodus either happened orderly and followed years of planning and discussion amongst policy makers London or haphazardly following the sudden realization that the war would not be fought exclusively elsewhere Berlin As policies the government evacuation schemes were bold controversial and considering their distinct political contexts surprisingly similar as were some of their consequences the recipients did not accept them uncritically the municipalities failed to evacuate the majority of children from the cities under attack and private provision catered for a lot more children than the official schemes This study of the British evacuation and Third Reich Kinderlandverschickung is an original and important contribution to the existing scholarship in two ways First it stays in the cities rather than leaving with the evacuees towards the already well researched evacuation experience in order to show the scheme geneses but also to appreciate issues related to their operational conduct in the face of stray children closed schools and rebellious parents in town Second the study explores the evacuation schemes in the two warring capitals in comparative perspective thus critically analyzing how policy was developed and executed in the face of shifting and differing political contexts and acute sociological challenges This study traces local developments through sources from the earliest plans contemplated in London during the 1930s to the collapse of the Third Reich and delayed return of Berlin children in 1946 It covers operational aspects and explores themes of agency citizenship childhood schooling and the relationship between state and individual The robust historical research combined with a strong central narrative should appeal not only to historians of education or military historians but also to policy makers educators former evacuees and all readers with a private or professional interest in wartime childhoods and evacuations

After Pluralism Courtney Bender, Pamela E. Klassen, 2010-11-02 The contributors to this volume treat pluralism as a concept that is historically and ideologically produced or put another way as a doctrine that is embedded within a range of political civic and cultural institutions Their critique considers how religious difference is framed as a problem that only pluralism can solve Working comparatively across nations and disciplines the essays in After Pluralism explore pluralism as a term of art that sets the norms of identity and the parameters of exchange encounter and conflict Contributors locate pluralism's ideals in diverse sites Broadway plays Polish Holocaust memorials Egyptian dream interpretations German jails and legal theories and demonstrate its shaping of political and social interaction in surprising and powerful ways Throughout they question assumptions underlying pluralism's discourse and its influence on the legal decisions that shape modern religious practice Contributors do more than deconstruct this theory they tackle what comes next Having established the genealogy and effects of pluralism they generate new questions for engaging the collective worlds and multiple registers in which religion operates

Work in Ancient and Medieval Thought B. van de Hoven, 2023-01-16 The main object of this study is to find out whether the differences between classical and medieval thinking about work occupations and technology are so significant that we are justified in speaking of a real break between Antiquity and the Middle Ages in this connection or whether there is a possible continuity of ideas From a comparative perspective five themes are being researched to shed light on this question In the first two chapters the author looks into the traditional view of negative ideas about work in Antiquity Chapter three subsequently deals with monks and their attitude towards labour In chapter four the place of the so called artes mechanicae in medieval classifications of knowledge is being studied In chapter five we find an analysis of twelfth century sermons ad status These three chapters principally deal with the question whether Christianity brought about a change in attitude towards work
