African Video Film Today Foluke Ogunleye, 2003 This book considers the current state and status of the video film in different parts of Africa Nigeria Ghana Lesotho and Congo Kinshasa It addresses technological ethical and gender considerations and issues of language and ethnicity suggesting in the concluding chapters that the video film in Africa has become an art form that crosses borders and an important means of communication within the continent The editor thus argues it must be treated seriously as an art form and cultural industry in its own right and as worthy of the scholarship such that this volume is conceived to encourage

Killer Tapes and Shattered Screens Caetlin Anne Benson-Allott, 2013-02-20 Since the mid 1980s US audiences have watched the majority of movies they see on a video platform be it VHS DVD Blu ray Video On Demand or streaming media Annual video revenues have exceeded box office returns for over twenty five years In short video has become the structuring discourse of US movie culture Killer Tapes and Shattered Screens examines how prerecorded video reframes the premises and promises of motion picture spectatorship But instead of offering a history of video technology or reception Caetlin Benson Allott analyzes how the movies themselves understand and represent the symbiosis of platform and spectator Through case studies and close readings that blend industry history with apparatus theory psychoanalysis with platform studies and production history with postmodern philosophy Killer Tapes and Shattered Screens unearths a genealogy of post cinematic spectatorship in horror movies thrillers and other exploitation genres From Night of the Living Dead 1968 through Paranormal Activity 2009 these movies pursue their spectator from one platform to another adapting to suit new exhibition norms and cultural concerns in the evolution of the video subject
