The Diverse Worlds of Unemployed Adults Mark E. Havitz, Peter A. Morden, Diane M. Samdahl, 2006-01-01 Multi method research study shows why leisure activities are as important for the unemployed as they are for the employed Can someone who is unemployed experience leisure or does that seem like a contradiction in terms If unemployed people can experience leisure how might it mitigate the negative effects of unemployment And what form then would that leisure take The relationship between leisure and unemployment has not received the attention it merits especially in North America Because research on leisure and unemployment must cross over areas of study as well as theoretical perspectives it can often seem conflicting and inconclusive Yet the need for an understanding of that relationship remains This groundbreaking book addresses that need Mark E Havitz Peter A Morden and Diane M Samdahl describe the sometimes surprising results of their multi method study of the effects of unemployment on leisure lifestyle and well being within Canada and integrate those results with literature collected worldwide into a comprehensive picture Using in depth interviews quantitative experience sampling and standardized questionnaire data this fascinating book provides ample evidence that the lived experiences of the unemployed are incredibly diverse and the need for leisure is as intense for them as for the employed The authors also pinpoint changes in public policy and social service agency management at local provincial and federal levels that will better serve unemployed people and their dependents and enable them to use leisure activities to improve their lives
