Nutrition and Vulnerable Groups Amanda Devine, Tanya Lawlis, 2019-06-17 Food insecurity is a complex wicked problem that results from a range of unstable and uncertain physical social cultural and economic factors that limits access to nutritious food Globally 800 million people are undernourished and around 2 billion are overweight obese or have micronutrient deficiency These populations are largely positioned in developing countries where disease burden is high and impacts health budgets and productivity Similarly developed countries cities and neighbourhoods are experiencing a greater emergence of vulnerable populations This is in part explained by the change in the food production and manufacturing the retraction in economic climates the increase in food price and in some regions reduced food availability and access Vulnerable groups include but are not limited to migrant populations Indigenous people elderly pregnant women those with disability homeless young children and youth Poor nutrition at significant periods of growth and development and during life impact long term health outcomes increasing non-communicable disease prevalence health cost and reducing economic productivity

Why We Snap Douglas Fields, 2016-01-12 The startling new science behind sudden acts of violence and the nine triggers this groundbreaking researcher has uncovered We all have a rage circuit we can't fully control once it is engaged as R Douglas Fields PhD reveals in this essential book for our time The daily headlines are filled with examples of otherwise rational people with no history of violence or mental illness suddenly snapping in a domestic dispute an altercation with police or road rage attack We all wish to believe that we are in control of our actions but the fact is in certain circumstances we are not The sad truth is that the right trigger in the right circumstance can unleash a fit of rage in almost anyone But there is a twist Essentially the same pathway in the brain that can result in a violent outburst can also enable us to act heroically and altruistically before our conscious brain knows what we are doing Think of the stranger who dives into a frigid winter lake to save a drowning child Dr Fields is an internationally recognized neurobiologist and authority on the brain and the cellular mechanisms of memory He has spent years trying to understand the biological basis of rage and anomalous violence and he has concluded that our culture's understanding of the problem is based on an erroneous assumption that rage attacks are the product of morally or mentally defective individuals rather than a capacity that we all possess Fields shows that violent behavior is the result of the clash between our evolutionary hardwiring and triggers in our contemporary world Our personal space is more crowded than ever we get less sleep and we just aren't as fit as our ancestors We need to understand how the hardwiring works and how to recognize the nine triggers With a totally new perspective engaging narrative and practical advice Why We Snap uncovers the biological roots of the rage response and how we can protect ourselves and others
