Popular Music in a Digital Music Economy Tim Anderson, 2013-12-17 In the late 1990s the MP3 became the de facto standard for digital audio files and the networked computer began to claim a significant place in the lives of more and more listeners The dovetailing of these two circumstances is the basis of a new mode of musical production and distribution where new practices emerge This book is not a definitive statement about what the new music industry is Rather it is devoted to what this new industry is becoming by examining these practices as experiments dedicated to negotiating what is replacing an object based industry oriented around the production and exchange of physical recordings In this new economy constant attention is paid to the production and licensing of intellectual property and the rise of the social musician who has been encouraged to become more entrepreneurial Finally every element of the industry now must consider a new type of audience the end user and their productive and distributive capacities around which services and musicians must orient their practices and investments

Living with Algorithms Ignacio Siles, 2023-04-25 A nuanced account from a user perspective of what it s like to live in a datafied world We live in a media saturated society that increasingly transforms our experiences relations and identities into data others can analyze and monetize Algorithms are key to this process surveilling our most mundane practices and to many their control over our lives seems absolute In Living with Algorithms Ignacio Siles critically challenges this view by surveying user dynamics in the global south across three algorithmic platforms Netflix Spotify and TikTok and finds surprisingly a more balanced relationship Drawing on a wealth of empirical evidence that privileges the user over the corporate Siles examines the personal relationships that have formed between users and algorithms as Latin Americans have integrated these systems into the structures of everyday life enacted them ritually participated in public with and through them and thwarted them Sometimes users follow algorithms Siles finds and sometimes users resist them At times users do both Agency lies in the navigation of the spaces in between By analyzing what we do with algorithms rather than what algorithms do to us Living with Algorithms clarifies the debate over the future of datafication and whether we have a say in its development Concentrating on an understudied region of the global south the book provides a new perspective on the commonalities and differences among users within a global ecology of technologies
