Rethinking Legal Scholarship Rob van Gestel, Hans-W. Micklitz, Edward L. Rubin, 2017-02-02 Although American scholars sometimes consider European legal scholarship as old fashioned and inward looking and Europeans often perceive

American legal scholarship as amateur social science both traditions share a joint challenge If legal scholarship becomes too much separated from practice legal scholars will ultimately make themselves superfluous If legal scholars on the other hand cannot explain to other disciplines what is academic about their research which methodologies are typical and what separates proper research from mediocre or poor research they will probably end up in a similar situation Therefore we need a debate on what unites legal academics on both sides of the Atlantic Should legal scholarship aspire to the status of a science and gradually adopt more and more of the methods quality standards and practices of other social sciences What sort of methods do we need to study law in its social context and how should legal scholarship deal with the challenges posed by globalization

This book applies philosophical and critical textual scholarship to the traditional Islamic narrative in an attempt to distinguish between its historical and interpretive elements It allows the narrative to be preserved with due respect for its significance and distinctiveness but in a way that frees it from the ease with which it can slip into the hands of literalists and fundamentalists in order to serve a purpose which is at odds with its original spirit and intention When radical Islamists use social media to try and convert young followers to a Jihadist cause they refer often to the narrative about the Prophet the original Islamic community Ummah and the holy book Qur an The references usually imply that these are under threat by infidels either non Muslim Westerners or Muslims themselves who follow allegedly errant forms of Islam The narrative itself is however never questioned it is taken as merely factual with every word to be taken literally including words that appear intolerant of difference and given to violence As such it can serve well the forms of fundamentalism that lie at the heart of radical Islamism and Jihadism Because of a shortage of critical scholarship about Islam s central narrative the radical Islamist understanding of it differs too little from that of mainstream Muslims Neither tends to take sufficient account of the context of the writing its original purpose or the many interpretive elements that have been overlain This makes it difficult for mainstream Islamic authorities to counter effectively the radical Islamist discourse or to distinguish moderate and liberal forms of religious practice from radical breakaway forms In turn this causes confusion among Muslims who know the radical Islamists are in error but find it hard to say just why and even greater confusion and angst among non Muslims for whom the allegation that all of Islam is inherently violent and to be feared is clearly being heard by an increasing number This book sets out to address this problem by applying forms of scholarship that can preserve the best of the Islamic narrative while at the same time illustrating just how errant is the radical Islamist understanding of it National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Scholarship Program United States. While some intellectuals at the end of the nineteenth century argued that scientific progress would eventually cause the demise of religion it is evident that this has not been the case and that contemporary science is in fact not necessarily inimical to a religious worldview So a fruitful dialogue between science and religion has become a reality But there is also a more fundamental question that arises which is not simply the relationship of the sciences or of other disciplines to religion but rather whether faith can and should have an impact on teaching and research The majority of the essays in this volume hold that the Christian faith provides definite cognitive advantages and that to leave one's faith at the entrance of the campus thus separating faith from reason leads to a schizophrenic view of the Christian's intellectual life This volume thus shows how the religious faith of intellectuals not all of whom are Christian exercises a real influence on their scholarship In consonance with the thought of Pope John Paul II it is the contention of the scholars whose essays make up this volume that a faith that imbues research and teaching will effect a transformation not only in themselves but also in their students and eventually in society Hence a faith that is fully received thought out and lived will penetrate culture and there is no doubt that present day culture stands in need of transformation In fact the encyclical Fides et Ratio from which a number of the essays draw inspiration attributes the secularization of the West in great part to the separation of faith from culture Jacques Maritain himself more than fifty years ago recognized that modern and contemporary culture had severed its ties with the sacred and in so doing had turned its back on humanity Now in the twenty first century as always human beings have a profound need for meaning and transcendence a need which scholarly reflection such as that found in this volume can help to satisfy In addition to the editors the contributors are David Arias Jr Mariano Artigas Gavin T Colvert John Goyette Frederick Erb III Heather McAdam Erb Alfred J Freddoso Jeanne M Heffernan Leon Klenicki Ralph McInerny John F Morris Warren Murray Peter A Pagan Teresa I Reed Robert Royal James V Schall S J William Sweet and Dallas Willard Alice Ramos and Marie I George are both Associate Professors of Philosophy at St John's University Register of the University of California University of California (1868-1952),1945 Sustainability David Wasieleski,James Weber,2020-06-15 Volume Four focuses on research drawn from work grounded in Sustainability Scholars known in this discipline contribute to a 360 degree evaluation of the theory including cross discipline research empirical explorations cross cultural studies literature critiques and meta analysis projects Parliamentary Papers Great Britain.
