The growth of machines and users of the Internet has led to the proliferation of all sorts of data concerning individuals institutions companies governments universities and all kinds of known objects and events happening everywhere in daily life Scientific knowledge is not an exception to the data boom The phenomenon of data growth in science pushes forth as the number of scientific papers published doubles every 9 15 years and the need for methods and tools to understand what is reported in scientific literature becomes evident As the number of academicians and innovators swells so do the number of publications of all types yielding outlets of documents and depots of authors and institutions that need to be found in Bibliometric databases These databases are dug into and treated to hand over metrics of research performance by means of Scientometrics that analyze the toil of individuals institutions journals countries and even regions of the world The objective of this book is to assist students professors university managers government industry and stakeholders in general understand which are the main Bibliometric databases what are the key research indicators and who are the main players in university rankings and the methodologies and approaches that they employ in producing ranking tables The book is divided into two sections The first looks at Scientometric databases including Scopus and Google Scholar as well as institutional repositories The second section examines the application of Scientometrics to world class universities and the role that Scientometrics can play in competition among them It looks at university rankings and the methodologies used to create these rankings Individual chapters examine specific rankings that include QS World University Scimago Institutions Webometrics U Multirank U S News World Report The book concludes with a discussion of university performance in the age of research analytics

The Reinvention of the U.S. Academic Library Donald A. Barclay, 2025-07-10

The information most essential for life in the modern world falls under the rubric of scholarly communication the vast and ever growing body of words and data produced by scholarly researchers the majority of whom work in academia Scholarly communications are fundamental to creating and informing the digital and mechanical tools we use every day contributing to the world in which we live advanced healthcare macro and micro economic choices environmental sustainability concepts of justice and equity and a fuller understanding of the human history For the last several centuries there have been three key components to scholarly communication The scholars who conduct the research gather the data and record their findings The scholarly publishers who replicate and distribute those findings The academic libraries that provide connection between the fruits of scholarly communications and the researchers instructors students and members of the general public who then use that information to advance learning and make decisions both personal and public Focusing on U S academic libraries The Reinvention of the U S Academic Library begins by providing a concise history of the traditional role and function of academic libraries from their earliest times up to the dawn of the Digital Age and the spread of digital technology into all aspects of academic research and scholarly communication This introduction is followed by chapters analyzing how digital technology has transformed over the course of a few swift decades not only the role and function of academic libraries but also the nature of scholarly communication itself Specifically The Reinvention of the U S Academic Library will consider how digital technology has changed the way academic libraries Acquire and exercise bibliographic control over collections Provide equitable access to information Allocate and utilize library space Instruct and guide students faculty and others Relate to the larger academic and scholarly publishing communities Sustain scholarly communications
