The Delivery Man By Mark Twain

I sat down again, a-finding all over for the house was all as still as death now, and so the widow wouldn't know. Well, after a long time I heard the clock, ready off in the lowing boom—boom—boom—twelve like and all still again—still than ever. That was good! Saw it "me-yow me-yow" as still as I could, and then I put out the light and scrambled out of the window on to the shed. Then I stepped down to the ground and crawled in among the trees, and sure enough, there was Tom Sawyer waiting for me.

"If I were to be dressed in a suit made of this cloth, I should be able to find out which men in my empire were unfit for their places, and I could dismiss them from the service." And he ordered his subjects to buy the cloth. "And he ordered his subjects to buy the cloth," they said. "And he ordered his subjects to buy the cloth," they said.
