Warranty and Preventive Maintenance for Remanufactured Products Ammar Y. Alqahtani, Surendra M. Gupta, 2018-12-12 The exponential increase in the development of technology coupled with the customers immense desire to possess the newest technological products makes for truncated product lifespans which instigates a substantial upsurge in their rate of disposal Attempts have been made to establish specialized product recovery facilities with the intention of diminishing the volume of accumulated waste delivered to landfills using product recovery procedure such as remanufacturing The economic benefits produced by remanufacturing also portray the role of product recovery in a more attractive light The quality of a remanufactured product is uncertain for some consumers Therefore these consumers possess insecurities in deciding whether or not the remanufactured products will render the same expected performance This ambiguity regarding a remanufactured product could possibly result in the consumer deciding against its purchase With such consumer apprehension remanufacturers often seek market mechanisms that provide reassurance as to the stable durability that these products still maintain One strategy that the remanufacturers often use is the utilization of the premise of offering product warranties with preventive maintenance on their products This book is concerned with the practice and theory of warranty management and preventive maintenance particularly in relation to remanufactured products warranties Models developed in this book can be used for making the right decisions in offering renewable nonrenewable one and two dimensional warranty policies and for managerial decision in considering maintenance contracts or outsourcing maintenance for remanufactured components and products Features Discusses a variety of warranty policies and preventive maintenance of remanufactured products first book to do so Presents mathematical models and applications for warranty policies using examples and simulation results Considers cost and optimization problems from the remanufacturer's and buyer's points of views Provides a foundation for academicians interested in building models in the area of warranty and preventive maintenance analysis of remanufactured products Offers the essential methodology needed by practitioners involved with warranty and preventive maintenance analysis along with extensive references for further research

Long Term Warranty and After Sales Service Anisur Rahman, Gopinath Chattopadhyay, 2015-06-05 This volume

presents concepts policies and cost models for various long term warranty and maintenance contracts It offers several numerical examples for estimating costs to both the manufacturer and consumer Long term warranties and maintenance contracts are becoming increasingly popular as these types of aftersales services provide assurance to consumers that they can enjoy long reliable service and protect them from defects and the potentially high costs of repairs Studying long term warranty and service contracts is important to manufacturers and consumers alike as offering long term warranty and maintenance contracts produce additional costs for manufacturers service providers over the product s service life These costs must be factored into the price or the manufacturer dealer will incur losses instead of making a profit On the other hand the buyer consumer needs to weigh the cost of maintaining it over its service life and to decide whether or not these policies are worth purchasing There are a number of complexities involved in developing failure and cost models for these policies due to uncertainties concerning the service life usage pattern maintenance work and long term costs of rectifications Mathematical models for predicting failures and expected costs for various one dimensional long term warranty policies are developed at the system level and analyzed by taking into account the uncertainties in connection with longer coverage periods and the rectification costs over the warranty period Failures and costs are modeled using stochastic techniques and illustrated by means of numerical examples for estimating costs to the manufacturer and consumer Various rectification policies are proposed and analyzed The models developed here can be used to aid in managerial decisions on purchasing products with long term warranty policies and maintenance contracts or outsourcing maintenance
