It's generally understood the internet is for pictures of cute cats and dogs and otters and pandas. But what motivates people to make and share these images, and how do they relate to other online social practices? The Internet is for Cats examines how animal images are employed to create a lighter, more playful mood, uniting users within online spaces that can otherwise easily become fractious and toxic. Placing today's pet videos, photos, and memes within a longer history of mediated animal images, communication scholar Jessica Maddox also considers the factors that make them unique. She explores the roles that animals play within online economies of cuteness and attention, as well as the ways that animal memes and videos respond to common experiences of life under neoliberalism. Conducting a rich digital ethnography, Maddox combines observations and textual analysis with extensive interviews of the people who create, post, and share animal media, including TikTok influencers seeking to make their pets famous, activists tweeting about wildlife conservation, and Redditors upvoting every cute cat photo. The Internet is for Cats will leave you with a new appreciation for the human social practices behind the animal images you encounter online. PC Magazine, 2001 AI Business for Everyone Michael T. Murphy, 2025-10-22 AI income strategies that actually work for YOUR life. This 1,800-page manual guide delivers hyper-personalized passive income roadmaps for 15 demographics: parents, retirees, freelancers, everyone. With 2100 ready-to-use prompts, case studies, exposing costly pitfalls, and aggressive 30-day action checklists, you'll build your 1,000 monthly automated income while others just read about AI. While others debate whether AI will take their jobs, smart individuals across every demographic are quietly building automated income streams, generating thousands monthly. This isn't another generic 'make money with AI' guide assuming everyone's a tech-savvy twenty-something. This is the first truly democratized roadmap to AI wealth, crafted for YOUR specific situation.
