Automating Inequality Virginia Eubanks, 2025-08-22 WINNER The 2019 Lillian Smith Book Award 2018 McGannon Center Book Prize and shortlisted for the Goddard Riverside Stephan Russo Book Prize for Social Justice Astra Taylor author of The People's Platform The single most important book about technology you will read this year Dorothy Roberts author of Killing the Black Body A must read A powerful investigative look at data based discrimination and how technology affects civil and human rights and economic equity The State of Indiana denies one million applications for healthcare foodstamps and cash benefits in three years because a new computer system interprets any mistake as failure to cooperate In Los Angeles an algorithm calculates the comparative vulnerability of tens of thousands of homeless people in order to prioritize them for an inadequate pool of housing resources In Pittsburgh a child welfare agency uses a statistical model to try to predict which children might be future victims of abuse or neglect Since the dawn of the digital age decision making in finance employment politics health and human services has undergone revolutionary change Today automated systems rather than humans control which neighborhoods get policed which families attain needed resources and who is investigated for fraud While we all live under this new regime of data the most invasive and punitive systems are aimed at the poor In Automating Inequality Virginia Eubanks systematically investigates the impacts of data mining policy algorithms and predictive risk models on poor and working class people in America The book is full of heart wrenching and eye opening stories from a woman in Indiana whose benefits are literally cut off as she lays dying to a family in Pennsylvania in daily fear of losing their daughter because they fit a certain statistical profile The U S has always used its most cutting edge science and technology to contain investigate discipline and punish the destitute Like the county poorhouse and scientific charity before them digital tracking and automated decision making hide poverty from the middle class public and give the nation the ethical distance it needs to make inhumane choices which families get food and which starve who has housing and who remains homeless and which families are broken up by the state In the process they weaken democracy and betray our most cherished national values This deeply researched and passionate book could not be more timely

La automatización de la desigualdad Virginia Eubanks, 2021-05-10 Una poderosa investigación sobre la discriminación basada en datos y cómo la tecnología afecta a los derechos civiles y a la equidad económica Desde los albores de la era digital la toma de decisiones en finanzas empleo política salud y servicios ha experimentado un cambio revolucionario sistemas automatizados en lugar de humanos controlan qué vecindarios se vigilan qué familias obtienen los recursos necesarios o quién es investigado por fraude Si bien todos vivimos bajo este nuevo régimen de datos los sistemas más invasivos y punitivos están dirigidos a los pobres Eubanks investiga el impacto de la minería de datos las políticas del algoritmo y los modelos de riesgo predictivo aplicados a las personas pobres y de clase trabajadora en Estados Unidos El país siempre ha utilizado su ciencia y tecnología de vanguardia para contener investigar disciplinar y castigar a los sintecho El seguimiento digital y la toma de decisiones automatizadas ocultan la pobreza al p blico de clase media y le dan al Estado la distancia tica que necesita para tomar decisiones inhumanas qu familias obtienen alimentos y cu les mueren de hambre qui n tiene vivienda y qui n permanece sin hogar y a qu familias divide el Estado En el proceso debilitan la democracia y traicionan los valores nacionales m s preciados
