Professional Development for Leaders and Managers of Self-Governing Schools David Gamage, 2006-08-05 Current Context Currently self governing schools SGS or school based site based management SBM or local management of schools LMS identifies the individual school as the primary unit of improvement It relies on the redistribution of decision making authority to stimulate and sustain improvements in a school For this purpose varying degrees of formal authority to make decisions in the domains of school's mission goals priorities and school policies relating to financial material and human resources are not simply delegated but transferred by legislation to a representative governing body called the school council or board Accordingly it is the position of the principal or the head teacher previously at the apex of the hierarchical structure of the school which undergoes the most radical reform Under the new concept authority is shifted to the corporate body that is to the council or board while the principal becomes an ex officio member of that body and the chief executive officer CEO of the school Traditionally and legally the principal or the head teacher was vested with the full authority for the total management of the school But in terms of SGS or SBM the principal becomes a partner with the representatives of other relevant stakeholders in a democratic structure When the bureaucratic model of a school gets modified with the school governing body occupying the apex of the school hierarchy it becomes the key power centre with legal authority

Understanding College and University Organization James L. Bess, Jay R. Dee, 2023-07-03 Now available in paperback this two volume work is intended to help readers develop powerful new ways of thinking about organizational principles and apply them to policy making and management in colleges and universities The book is written with two audiences in mind administrative and faculty leaders in institutions of higher learning and students both doctoral and Master's degree studying to become upper level administrators leaders and policy makers in higher education It systematically presents a range of theories that can be applied to many of the difficult management situations that college and university leaders encounter It provides them with the theoretical background to knowledgeably evaluate the many new ideas that emerge in the current literature and in workshops and conferences The purpose is to help leaders develop their own effective management style and approaches and feel confident that their actions are informed by appropriate theory and knowledge of the latest research in the field Without theory organizational leaders are forced to treat each problem that they encounter as unique as if it were a first time occurrence While leaders may have some experience with a particular issue their solutions are usually not informed by the accumulated wisdom of others who have already encountered and resolved similar situations

The authors approach the theory of the organization and administration of colleges and universities from three quite different perspectives or paradigms each relying on different assumptions about the reality of organizational life in colleges and universities. The positivist paradigm primarily an omnibus systems theory integrates the chapters into a comprehensive yet easily accessible whole. Social constructionism the second paradigm is introduced in each chapter to illuminate the difficulty of seeking and finding meaningful consensus on problems and policies while also addressing important ethical issues that tend to be overlooked in leadership thought and action. The third paradigm postmodernism draws attention to difficulties of logic and communication under the constraints of strictly linear thinking that authorities at all levels attempt to impose on organizations. This multiple paradigm approach enables readers to become more cognizant of their own assumptions how they may differ from those of others in their organization and how those differences may both create difficulties in resolving problems and expand the range of alternatives considered in organizational decision making. The book offers readers the tools to balance the real world needs to succeed in today's challenging and competitive environment with the social and ethical aspirations of all its stakeholders and society at large. The authors aim is to elucidate how administration can be made more efficient and effective through rational decision making while also respecting humanistic values. This approach highlights a range of phenomena that require attention if the institution is ultimately to be considered successful. Also available Volume 1 The State of the System Two volume set

Community Organizing and Community Building for Health and Social Equity, 4th edition Meredith Minkler, Patricia Wakimoto, 2021-12-10 The fourth edition of Community Organizing and Community Building for Health and Social Equity provides both classic and recent contributions to the field with a special accent on how these approaches can contribute to health and social equity. The 23 chapters offer conceptual frameworks skill building and case studies in areas like coalition building organizing by and with women of color community assessment and the power of the arts the Internet social media and policy and media advocacy in such work. The use of participatory evaluation and strategies and tips on fundraising for community organizing also are presented as are the ethical challenges that can arise in this work and helpful tools for anticipating and addressing them. Also included are study questions for use in the classroom. Many of the book's contributors are leaders in their academic fields from public health and social work to community psychology and urban and regional planning and to social and political science. One author was the 44th president of the United States himself a former community organizer in Chicago who reflects on his earlier vocation and its importance. Other contributors are inspiring community leaders whose work on the ground and in partnership with us outsiders highlights both the power of collaboration and the cultural humility and other skills required to do it well. Throughout this book and particularly in the case studies and examples shared the role of context is critical and never far from view. Included here most recently are the horrific and continuing toll of the COVID 19 pandemic and a long overdue yet still greatly circumscribed national reckoning with systemic racism in the aftermath of the brutal police killing of yet another unarmed Black person and then another and another seemingly without end In many chapters the authors highlight different facets of the Black Lives Matter movement that took on new life across the country and the world in response to these atrocities In other chapters the existential threat of climate change and grave threats to democracy also are underscored View the Table of Contents and introductory text for the supplementary instructor resources https://d3tto5i5w9ogddcloudfront.net/wp-content/uploads/2022/02/04143046_9781978832176_optimized_sampler.pdf Supplementary instructor resources are available on request <https://www.rutgersuniversitypress.org/communityorganizing>
